

BANK OF CANADA OVERHAUL URGED BY SENATE PROBERS

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate manpower committee Wednesday recommended an overhaul of the Bank of Canada and closer integration of its policies with those of the finance department.

It said finance policies should be more settled and include tax incentives for business expansion, especially into the export market.

It also urged more consultation between labor and management on economic trends, closer co-ordination of federal, provincial and municipal spending on public works and a drive to boost technical training and keep students in school longer.

The Unemployment Insurance Act should be studied for revision and the National Employment Service made a more effective body to keep an eye on business trends.

The committee, composed of 17 Conservative and 16 Liberal senators, began its work last November and ended its hearings late in April with Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada as its star witness.

Neither the bank nor its controversial governor were mentioned specifically in the committee's conclusions and recommendations, but the report said lack of co-ordination between fiscal and monetary policy has been an important weakness in Canada.

Recession at an End

Fiscal policy is the responsibility of Finance Minister Fleming and is exercised through tax and tariff rates and balanced or deficit budgeting. Monetary control is exercised by the Bank of Canada to maintain the integrity of currency.

The committee, headed by Senator Leon Methot (PC—Quebec), who presented its report to the Upper House, said it appeared that the recession which has been troubling Canadian business has come to an end.

The upturn will be strengthened by revival of business activity in the United States, the report said, but this must be facilitated and reinforced by "appropriate monetary and fiscal policies."

"In particular, there is need for a suitable increase in the availability of credit to encourage an expanding scale of business operations," the report said.

Co-ordination Lacking

"This does not mean a massive infusion of new money which would become the basis of a future inflation, but a carefully regulated increase geared to the requirements of a growing volume of output and employment."

"Monetary policy should be accompanied by a complementary fiscal policy which is designed to promote expansion in the critical sectors of the economy and is settled so as to remove discouraging uncertainties."

Lack of co-ordination between monetary and fiscal policy had made it difficult if not impossible to influence interest rates, money supply and capital flows in the directions which would help maintain high employment and production levels.

"The idea that monetary and fiscal policies are independently determined and can be separately pursued is incompatible with the realities of a highly complex money and exchange economy in which the operations of government play so large a part."

1,000,000 Negroes May Be Kicked Out

CAPE TOWN (AP)—South Africa's government is considering deporting 1,000,000 "foreign" Negroes to their own countries, M. D. Doweet, minister of Bantu (Negro) administration and development, told Parliament Wednesday.

Nel said South Africa's Negroes wanted those "foreigners" deported because "many occupy good jobs while there are insufficient posts for the local Bantu."

Other Nations Join U.K. Move Protests

LONDON (Reuters)—Opposition to Britain's possible entry into the six nation European Common Market mounted Wednesday. (See editorial, Page 4.)

From Australia and New Zealand came warnings that some industries will be forced to the wall if Britain links up with the Common Market countries—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

PLEA TO TUC

The New Zealand Federation of Labor in a telegram urged the British Trades Union Congress to make the opposition Labor party disavow the Conservative government from talks with the Common Market nations.

British membership in the Common Market, the federation said, would "spell the end of the Commonwealth and reduce the United Kingdom to minor status."

In Canberra, Australian political observers said British entry would spell ruin for Australian exports to Britain of dairy products, grains, meat and fruit—all major products.

Prospects for New Zealand, which relies almost entirely on dairy produce and meat exports to Britain, were said to be even worse.

Defiant Coyne Dealt Last, Crushing Blow

'Booster' Budget Expected

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians will learn Tuesday night how the federal government plans to carry out its expansionist policy aimed at the creation of more trade, more production, more jobs.

Finance Minister Fleming announced in the Commons Wednesday that he expects to bring down his budget for the 1961-62 fiscal year next Tuesday night. He added the expansionist clue in telling why the government asked Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada to resign.

REASONS SEEN

The minister's remarks came as he said that Mr. Coyne advocated contrary restrictionist policies.

The Coyne episode and the four federal by-elections May 29 have been advanced by some as reasons for the delay in presenting the budget. It usually is brought down around April 1.

HUGE DEFICIT

Mr. Fleming, finance minister since the Conservatives took office in mid-1957, has yet to come up with a budget surplus.

Earlier this year the Canadian Tax Foundation forecast a budget deficit of $700,000,000 for the 1961-62 fiscal year, which would surpass the record of $600,000,000 in 1958-59.

RECORD SPENDING

For the current fiscal year started April 1, the government already has announced expenditures of all-time record proportions. Mr. Fleming has said additional expenditures will be announced before the end of the parliamentary session.

ELECTION GUESSES

Much guessing about the timing of the next general election—which Prime Minister Diefenbaker has said is possible for this year but not probable—is associated with the budget.

Speculation has been that there is little likelihood of personal income tax relief.

'ALMOST CERTAIN'

On the other hand, tax incentives for industry to encourage industrial expansion, boost production and give a shot in the arm to export sales have been reported as "almost certain."

OTTAWA (UPI)—Bank of Canada governor James E. Coyne will be fired from his $50,000 a year job shortly on grounds he can't get along with the federal government.

In the final and crushing blow of the Coyne crisis, Fleming told Parliament yesterday it would be asked to pass the necessary legislation to remove the 51-year old central bank chief from his post.

The announcement was the government's answer to Coyne's open defiance Tuesday of a demand that he resign immediately.

MAIN REASON

Fleming said flatly that Coyne "does not possess the confidence of the government."

"The main reason was that the government was convinced that Mr. Coyne's continuation in office as governor of the Bank of Canada would stand in the way of implementation of comprehensive, sound and responsible program designed to raise the levels of employment and production in Canada," Fleming said.

IMPLICATIONS CLEAR

The finance minister did not spell out the firing in precise terms, but the implications were clear in a statement that said:

"In the light of the foregoing, I can now inform the House that the government will shortly invite Parliament to take the appropriate legislative action to meet the needs of the situation."

HAIRY INDICTMENT

Fleming's statement was as harsh an indictment of a public servant as had been heard in some time.

It said Coyne's tenure as governor had been one of "steady and deplorable deterioration" in the bank's public relations. And it accused the governor of "ill-considered" actions, of making policy statements "with strong political overtones" outside his field, and of a "rigid and doctrinaire expression of views often and openly incompatible with government policy."

'NEED GREAT'

Fleming said the need for co-operation between the bank and the government "has never been greater."

"It has become impossible to expect this kind of co-operation as long as the present governor remains in office," he said.

Don't Try to Be Martyr Fleming Advises Coyne

(By CP and UPI)

OTTAWA—Finance Minister Donald Fleming said yesterday he hoped Bank of Canada governor James Coyne would not try to make a martyr out of himself.

He told the House of Commons the mantle of martyrdom was incompatible with a $25,000 a year pension.

This was a reference to a decision by the board of directors Feb. 15, 1960, to increase Mr. Coyne's pension from $12,000 per year to $25,000. Fleming said he told Mr. Coyne May 30 the increase was of "doubtful validity" because the government had not been told at the time.

Opposition leader Lester Pearson said Mr. Fleming had given the "sinister" impression that Mr. Coyne had taken

Census Still Going Taker's Still Stops

OTTAWA (CP)—Into a deadpan Commons Wednesday was tossed the story of the census commissioner's still.

Edmund Morris, parliamentary secretary to Trade Minister Hees, disclosed that the government June 8 suspended Julien Guy Sasseville as census commissioner for Quebec's St. James County.

The reason, he was convicted of running an illegal distillery.

J. P. Deschatelets (L—Montreal Maisonneuve-Rosemont) asked if Mr. Sasseville had been interviewed as to "fact and judgment" when he was appointed—and whether it was known at the time the RCMP had wanted him since last Oct. 24.

Mr. Morris said the interview showed Mr. Sasseville to be of above-average intelligence "as was borne out by the activity in which he was engaged." Mr. Sasseville was suspended, he said, for "non-availability to the public."

He said the OCF doesn't defend the $25,000 pension. But he suggested the government had told Mr. Coyne "to be a nice little boy and sneak away quietly," and that the government wouldn't reverse the pension increase.

Plea for Life

Desperate pleas of Mrs. Linda Smith and U.S. army Chaplain Carl Holden, behind Mrs. Smith, brought service station attendant Joe Smith, 21, back from brink of death in San Antonio, Tex., last night. He threatened to jump from top of 23-storey building until wife's appeals finally worked after 4½ hours.—(AP Photofax.)

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

MY boy Michael, aged six, climbed up the big steps with his flight bag slung over his shoulder, and disappeared inside the plane.

As I tried to focus my gaze past the shapely legs of the air hostess, into the cabin, I realized that I had forgotten to say goodbye to the boy.

I had been so busy buying Michael a 95-cent Hong Kong camera, and trying to fix it so that it would work, and fretting about sending an air express package, and drinking my coffee at the lunch counter, that the little figure had scuttled away through the barrier and up the steps before I knew it.

The boy's mother, and his eight-year-old brother, John, were aboard the aircraft. They were travelling to Vancouver, to see Michael aboard a bigger plane, a jet that would take him all the way to Amsterdam. There he would catch another plane to London.

Luckily, Mrs. Miriam Thomas and Miss Christine Bramley were travelling to Europe at the same time, and they had agreed to look after him as far as Amsterdam.

I saw them waving through the window, and I thought I saw a small hand flapping at another window, but I wasn't sure whether it was Michael or not.

I waved all the same. The aircraft taxied to the end of the runway and took off. Three hours later, the small boy would be aboard the jet bound for Europe. This was the last I would see of him for three months.

Somewhere among the medley of Buck Rogers-style towers and roof gardens that made up London airport, I hoped, the boy's grandmother would be waiting to meet him.

A day or two before, I had signed a paper saying that if nobody was there to meet the boy, the airline company would send him back by the most convenient method, at my expense.

It seemed a long way for such a small boy to travel, flying "over the Pole" to Europe in a single day. The boy was excited about the idea, but he wasn't afraid.

On the night before Michael left, I had to go into the boys' bedroom several times to hush their sniggering and stop them from wrestling around.

The boy grinned up at me, baring small baby teeth and cheeky brown eyes. He has a trick of charming his way out of punishments and rebukes. And, after all, it was his last day at home.

But I made so many trips upstairs, and the sniggering and wrestling went on. So at last I felt it necessary to give both boys a mild spanking. The eyes filled with tears, and there was some sobbing.

In the car going to the airport, the boy kept prattling on in his simple way. He suddenly remembered that I had promised to take him fishing to a small lake a few miles distant.

"When are you going to take me?" he demanded.

"Well, you'll have to wait until you come back from England, now," I reminded him. The boy obviously didn't think of the two countries as being far apart.

I felt somewhat sad about the boy skipping aboard the plane with his flight bag that contained small treasures—the cheap Hong Kong camera, a brooch made from a pebble, to take to his grandmother, embarking on such a great journey.

But Michael was wiser than his father. He was a child of the jet age. In his small, practical mind, he was only stepping across the sea.

Your Good Health

Reducing Diet More Logical Than Costly Plastic Surgery

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 53 and weigh 180. My breast is large and very heavy. I have pain and burning in the left breast and under the arm. My doctor examined me, and says nothing is wrong—the weight is causing the trouble. He advised plastic surgery. What do you think?—Mrs. R.L.

Did he "advise" it or just mention it? Plastic surgery—surgical removal of some of the excess fatty tissues—has been done in some cases, but as a rule it is more logical and much less costly to go on a good reducing diet, wear a good support and see what it can do. I don't know your height, but 190 pounds probably indicates that you are way over your proper weight.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My five-month-old son has been in a walker since he was 3½ months old. He goes every place in it, but some of our friends seem to think it will harm him in some way. He has perfect control. Should I keep him out of it until he is older? He is not content just to sit and not move around.—Mrs. P."

He started lots younger than most infants, but if he's old enough to want to do it, he's old enough for you to let him. Make sure he can't get into things that would hurt him—like reaching a hot stove, hot water, detergents stored in the kitchen, etc.

"Dear Sir: I would like to donate my eyes to an eyebank, and whatever else is needed in the existing 'banks' when I die. Can you tell me with whom to get in touch? I understand that papers are involved.—Mrs. G.W."

You're right. It is vital for you to have your wishes expressed in legal form, and also necessary that your nearest of kin be fully aware of your wishes and in accord with them. An eye surgeon can help you make arrangements.

Prairies Push Blitz on Bugs

By Canadian Press

Cloudy and cool weather Wednesday gave farmers and firefighters in the Prairie provinces a breather and a chance to assess damage to crops and forests.

Grasshoppers and cutworms continued to ravage crops, but farmers, supplied with a steady flow of insecticide by air, road and rail from the East, were blitzing the bugs with the most active control program in years.

SINCE FRIDAY

Emergency shipments into Saskatchewan since Friday have brought enough spray to cover 1,000,000 acres of land.

Municipal authorities in Moose Jaw were distributing Dieldrin and subsidizing the difference in cost between the farm price and that paid by farmers for chemical distributed through normal channels from the provincial government.

Agricultural representatives said the cool weather will act as a brake on grasshopper hatching but cutworm infestations are still serious.

Alberta agriculture officials reported grasshopper outbreaks in southern areas still persisting despite the fact three times as much chemical has been distributed this year as was used all year in 1959 and 1960.

ONLY FOUR

Forestry officials in Alberta reported 78 fires still burning, only four of them out of control.

Saskatchewan reported two fires out of control in the north and 35 fires burning in the province. Light showers in some regions reduced the fire hazard to moderate.

Crops in central Saskatchewan were dampened with moderate rainfall of up to 1.08 inches.

Jury Frees Rail 'Buyer'

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—A supreme court jury has acquitted a man charged with tearing up one mile of old railway track and selling it.

Al Williams testified he had made a deal with a man in Calgary who said he was a CNE official.

The transaction seemed "a little funny," he said, "but on the whole I didn't question it."

Kitimat Denies Ban on Visitors

KITIMAT (CP)—A spokesman for the Aluminum Co. of Canada described Wednesday as "grossly exaggerated" a union statement that the company had banned visits by relatives to employees at the powerhouse townsite at Kemano.

The steelworkers' union had said the ban had been imposed until work is completed on the tunnel which carries water from storage lakes.

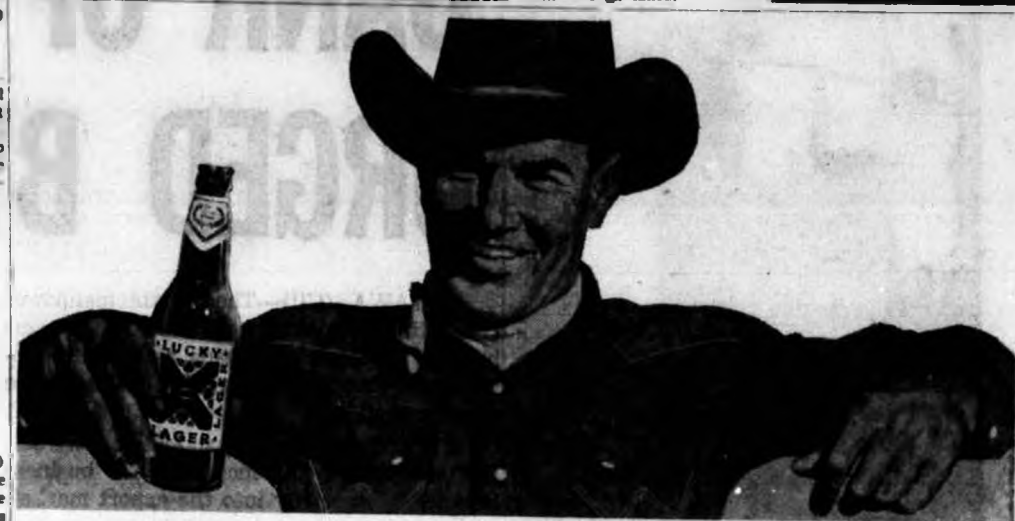

The spokesman said the company had merely requested the men not to invite visitors "because of our desire to complete repairs quickly."

Arms Talks On Again Says Russia

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Russia announced yesterday that it will resume informal disarmament talks with the United States in Washington next week.

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk told Senate questioners Wednesday the United States can never agree to general disarmament simply on Russia's word that it will disarm.

Castro Sees U.S. 'Swap' Committee

HAVANA (UPI)—The U.S. committee negotiating the exchange of tractors for Cuban invasion prisoners met yesterday with Premier Fidel Castro for three hours and 40 minutes.

There was no immediate government announcement, but it is believed that Castro repeated President Osvaldo Dorticos' demand to exchange three invasion leaders separately for three "political prisoners" held in U.S. institutions.

Union Certified

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Labor Relations Board has certified the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians as bargaining agent for 60 employees of CJAY-TV in Winnipeg. It was announced Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) said yesterday that Ambassador Adlai Stevenson flew here in the middle of the night to secure a last-minute reversal of plans which would have supplied air cover for the ill-fated April 17 Cuban invasion.

He made the statement in a discussion on the Senate floor. His Pennsylvania colleague, Sen. Joseph Clark (D.), quickly branded Scott's account "largely, if not entirely, fiction."

'PLAN REVOKED'

Rep. William E. Miller (R-N.Y.), the new GOP national chairman, said during the weekend that President Kennedy "rescinded and revoked" an Eisenhower administration plan which included U.S. air support for the Cuban invaders.

Scott, a former GOP chairman, told the Senate he had been authorized by the highest authority to say that former president Eisenhower would never have given U.S. support to any invasion which was not backed up by air cover.

'COVER PROMISED'

Scott said, however, that no invasion plan had been settled upon, no leader selected—and no decision made as to whose planes would cover the operation when Eisenhower stepped down.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), said he understood from participants in the Cuban landings that air cover by U.S. planes plus "naval backup" had been promised and that such an agreement "was understood by Cubans to have existed when they stepped off their landing barges in the invasion."

Scott said Stevenson "flew down in the middle of the night" just before the invasion and complained to Deputy Secretary of State Chester Bowles. The plans for air support, Scott said, were revoked "at least in part" on the basis of the Stevenson plea.

China Tipped Off Claims MacArthur

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prior knowledge that American leaders in 1950 lacked "the courage to fight through to victory" by bombing Chinese bases led to the Communist Chinese mass intervention in the Korean War, Gen. Douglas MacArthur suggested yesterday.

'PRIOR ASSURANCE'

The former Far East commander said no commander in his right senses would have invaded the Korean peninsula as the Chinese Reds did "without prior assurance" that the U.S. did not intend to react in the traditional manner and use its full power to destroy the bases of supply and attack.

MacArthur said when he told President Truman at Wake Island in October, 1950, that there was "very little" chance the Chinese would enter the war he was assuming the Reds believed such an act

Plan for Laos Held by Green

GENEVA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Howard Green came back to the conference on Laos Wednesday prepared to submit concrete Canadian proposals if the deadlock persists over the status of the Southeast Asian Kingdom.

Green took the initiative in this sphere in the early days of the conference which opened May 14. His efforts met with some success although the situation is still far from clear in the tug of war between East and West over the tiny Indo Chinese country.

Interviewed before his return to the conference — he didn't attend Wednesday's session but said he would be on hand today — Green stressed that the three-country international control commission presents "the one way of having some measure of control over what happens in Laos."

'KEEP HAMMERING'

The Canadian foreign chief indicated he will keep hammering on the necessity of providing the India-Canada-Poland commission with the necessary equipment and freedom of movement to supervise the cease-fire.

"The fighting, while it hasn't stopped entirely, is greatly reduced," Green said.

The general's statement was in answer to an army history of the Korean War asserting that Truman must share blame with MacArthur for failing to predict Red China's invasion across the Yalu in November, 1950.

'NO COMMENT'

Former president Truman, asked for comment, replied: "No comment, no comment at all. My suggestion is that you read my memoirs if you want the true facts."

Coyne Should Go

THE FUNDAMENTAL issue in the Coyne dispute must surely be the question of who decides the financial policy of the country. As the facts of the government's demand for the Bank of Canada governor's resignation come to light, it is clear that Mr. Coyne is opposing the government's expansionist policy, and making it impossible for it to carry out its program.

Democratically this is an intolerable situation. The government as the duly-elected representative of the people must have the right to set national policy. If the Bank of Canada Act allows the governor of the bank to override the Cabinet, then it is time the act was changed.

The governor should not be the country's policy-maker but the chief executive of the government in administering the will of Parliament. Mr. Coyne apparently does not agree with this concept.

It has been clear from his public speeches that Mr. Coyne has for some time regarded himself as a Messiah with an economic gospel for Canada that is now shown to be clearly at variance with the will of the government. Such a condition could not be allowed to continue indefinitely.

It is true that Mr. Coyne has many supporters who believe his theory that Canada should live within its means—and never mind the recession—is right, and the government and its advisers is wrong.

On the other side, however, are the vast majority of bankers, financiers and economists who have their fingers on the monetary pulse of the nation just as closely as Mr. Coyne's, who oppose the theory of the governor.

The writing was probably on the wall for Mr. Coyne last winter when, one after another, the presidents of the Canadian chartered banks in their annual reports condemned Bank of Canada policy and particularly its unsuitable money rates.

Mr. Coyne, therefore, finds himself in the intolerable position of not only being "agin the government" but also at loggerheads with the great banks of Canada whose operation the Bank of Canada largely controls.

Mr. Coyne originally claimed he was being asked to resign because the government disapproved the action of the governor through his board of directors in increasing his own pension, but the government itself is not making this the main issue. Mr. Fleming has clearly pointed out that he cannot implement government policy over the objections of Mr. Coyne.

If Mr. Coyne is adamant in his belief that the government's economic policy is wrong then the strongest and most honorable action he can take is to accept the invitation not only of the government, but also of his own board of directors to resign, and carry on the fight for his ideals from outside.

The Last Link

PRIME MINISTER Macmillan's apparent rejection of the Canadian proposal for a top-level Commonwealth conference to discuss the effects on the present Commonwealth trade preference policy if the United Kingdom should move into the European Common Market, will be greeted with some disappointment.

Despite the generally favorable reaction to the Canadian suggestion throughout the Commonwealth, Mr. Macmillan has decided to hold fast to his preference of a series of bilateral talks rather than an all-embracing multilateral conference.

Even with sympathetic recognition of Britain's increasing trading problems in the face of growing European competition in all fields of industry, it is difficult to see the advantage of Mr. Macmillan's plan over Mr. Diefenbaker's.

The present dilemma is Britain's alone, but her decision will be felt throughout the Commonwealth. There can be little doubt that if Britain bows to the economic and political pressure being placed upon her and joins the European Common Market, Canada will be one of the first to suffer—but she will not be alone. Australia, India, New Zealand, Pakistan and many of the new African Commonwealth nations will also feel the pinch.

It has long been observed in many quarters that the Commonwealth's only real value as an organization lies in its economic advantages. It is a fact that a ready market for raw and manufactured goods upon which depends the prosperity—or even the livelihood—of a country far exceeds in practical need the high principles and objectives such as the Commonwealth has set itself.

The matter may then rest on what importance Britain places upon the existence of the Commonwealth itself. If she feels that her own economy cannot stand up under present conditions then she must in the interests of her own people join the European Common Market and leave the rest of the Commonwealth to fend for itself.

If this is the course followed it will result in the breaking of the last practical link of the chain that once so securely bound the Commonwealth together. True the ideals and common purpose of freedom and democracy will remain unaltered—but it will also see the centre of interest move away from the family of nations into separate new and unexplored areas.

The agonizing burden of decision rests upon Britain. Yet it is one that could be greatly relieved if it were placed in all its complexity before the other Commonwealth leaders in an open and frank conference such as Mr. Diefenbaker has suggested.

A Rational Trend

THE UN GENERAL Assembly president, Ireland's Mr. Boland, says the odds against seating Red China are dwindling. When the question comes up again the opposition will be narrowed.

Wisdom endorses the trend. China is a far more dangerous potential without than within. For all its weaknesses the UN does contain its member states to a valuable degree. It is a meeting ground of mollifying influence.

So long as Peking is kept outside so long will this ostracism lirk and invite its continued opposition to UN measures of any kind. It is patent also that no progress can be made towards world peace if China is not a party to international council and negotiation.

In any case it is wholly irrational to bar the nation with the largest population from UN membership. Most member states now realize that so large a segment of the human world cannot be kept in Coventry if there is to be any prospect of amicable world progress.

The way to persuade a nation to change its outlook is not to have nothing to do with it.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax..."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE U.S. Open golf championship starts this morning on a course which the tournament professionals call the "monster." That is, it's too difficult.

You might think these masters of pitch and putt could take golf courses in their stride, but not so. They like it easy.

This no doubt so that the low scores they chalk up reflect great credit on them. There is magic in going round in the "sixties," as though the "seventies" wouldn't do as nicely so long as they brought victory.

The low scores commonly played by these masters of the art of golf are, therefore, a symbol of the course as well as of their skill. The latter is not doubted even if graded clubs make the game more mechanical than ever before.

This is the mechanical age, remember.

But the objections to traps and rough fairways indicates the easy way out preferred by most of us in the present era.

Few of us want a tough lie.

Even the non-pros, as you are aware, like their golf not to be too strenuous. Thus the go-carts to obviate a caddy or, more pertinently, a heavy carry from shot to shot. Thus the scooters that save the legs over the same short distances.

Golfers are not alone in seeking to get through their athletic chores with the least possible exertion. The substitute system in team games could be reckoned as the beginning of the decline.

There were men of old who would have scorned going off the ice or the field for a rest, or who would have felt insulted if taken out of the play. It's now apt to be the other way round; puffing hard a player looks beseechingly for a respite.

In sheer perfection of play the result is beneficial, but it puts a premium on lack of endurance.

People belong to their own era and this is all of a piece with easy living, deemed to be the acme of human achievement.

It's very pleasant, too. One can slump before a small movie screen and if desired exert only a finger instead of one's legs to change the picture. All of six to ten feet of movement is thus saved. One can avoid straining the muscles also when going to the corner store a block away, for the car does the exercise.

And long since, of course, one could lie on a sofa and hear an hour's music or more without rising to switch the record. The inventor of this automatic device was most thoughtful of our convenience.

Or, putting it in other words, our laziness.

Thus too our disinclination to get mixed up in the nuclear clubs. It's all such a bother; better to be neutral or pacifist and let somebody else do the worrying or take the trouble.

And it is delightful, no doubt about that, this lotus-like existence that Madison Avenue and its ilk persuade us to adopt. Few of us have the hardihood to buck the tide of easy living.

We shall pay for our ease, nevertheless. Fate always holds a balance in store. History is the story of spartan nations which rose to greatness and then fell because of affluence. It would be presumptuous to think we shall escape.

For with physical ease comes a softening of the mental fibre, a lessening of the sense of real values, a weakening of the ethical outlook.

This generation needn't worry, perhaps, but the next one may have cause for sad reflection.

There are nations on the up-and-up who don't use go-carts or think anything of tough lies. And they'll be heard from, never fear.

"It's from the United States government... they say 'NO' on the tractors... They want to give us the State of Alabama instead..."

VELVET FIST IN AN IRON GLOVE

South Africa Seeks Alliance

No Reason for Success

AIRCRAFT of the South African Air Force are patrolling the 50-yard wide strip of cleared ground which forms the boundary between Southwest Africa and the Portuguese colony of Angola. Any southward movement of Africans would be spotted immediately. The revolt would get no further than the cleared strip.

Whatever might be happening elsewhere in Africa, Dr. Verwoerd's government, which is responsible for the administration of Southwest Africa, is determined to maintain white rule in the area under its control. The government has formidable military resources, and it is displaying them in Southwest Africa—on a bigger scale perhaps than is necessary considering that the fighting in Angola is confined to the north at present.

Southwest Africa, a former German colony, is administered by South Africa under a mandate of the League of Nations. This mandate lays down that no permanent naval bases or military defenses may be established in the territory. Walvis Bay, however, although it is administered as part of the territory, belongs to South Africa. Units of the South African defense forces have just been sent there, and naval vessels, which now patrol the coast periodically, use it as a base.

Recently Russian fishing vessels turned up off the Southwest African coast, and an unidentified submarine was reported to be prowling in the vicinity. Soviet fishermen actually appeared in Walvis Bay, and government supporting newspapers reported that they were making overtures to the local Africans by offering them cigarettes. The significance of the Soviet visit has been exaggerated, and as for the unidentified submarine it turns up regularly along the South African coast, and no one really believes it exists.

The 70,000 white inhabitants of Southwest Africa are concerned more with the threat from Angola than with the imaginary threat from the Soviet fishing fleet. Some apprehensive German families are leaving the territory temporarily for the safety of Germany. Others are trying to sell their farms.

By an OFNS Special Correspondent from Cape Town

The formerly placid life of the Southwest Africans, largely a farming and mining community, has been disturbed by another threat — that of UN "interference." South Africa has been charged at the UN with not administering Southwest Africa in terms of the mandate.

The matter is before the International Court of Justice at the Hague. South Africa denies the allegations and rejects the claim that the UN inherited the supervisory powers of the old league. A special nine-member UN committee is at present trying to gain admittance to the territory, but South Africa has refused to grant visas. The military activity in the territory, and the talk of protecting it from "external aggression" may be a propaganda device to discourage the committee from pressing its attention at this stage.

The talk of aggression is also serving a useful propaganda purpose for the government in South Africa. The "scare talk" is escalating Dr. Verwoerd in his new appeal for white unity to meet the rise of African nationalism.

South African Minister of Defence Mr. Fouché, is going on a hush-hush visit abroad, which is described by the pro-government press here as "an extremely important mission concerning defence matters."

The purchase of weapons and the signing of agreements for the supply of military equipment will clearly be an important part of the mission. The question of defence agreements also has been mentioned. At present South Africa has only one defence agreement—with Britain, for the defence of the sea routes around Southern Africa.

This agreement was signed when South Africa took back the naval base of Simonstown from Britain recently. Mr. Fouché wants to continue and, if possible, expand this agreement.

The real prize Mr. Fouché would like to bring back, however, would be a general defence agreement with Britain or France, or some other Western power for the defence of certain regions of Africa, particularly Southern Africa.

Since it came to power in 1948, the Nationalist government has been trying to arrange such an agreement without success. The political implications of being associated too closely with an apartheid government, however have frightened off the Western powers. There is no reason now why Mr. Fouché should succeed where his predecessor, Mr. Erasmus, failed. When all is said and done, therefore, the present moves by Dr. Verwoerd's government may amount to little more than a political manoeuvre to reassure the South African public that the government's military links with the West are secure, and that South Africa, in spite of its race policies, is still a welcome member of the Western community of nations.

Best Bait Is Peanut

A Boy and His Squirrels

By SHAUN HERRON

My fondness for squirrels dates from my student days when a Mexican friend, Roberto Lucero, caught and made a pet of a young grey squirrel on the Princeton campus.

We were playing with the little thing one autumn day when Einstein came by. He sat and said, "Let's all be boys together." He joined our play and for the next year we spent many evenings in the little white house on Mercer Street where he talked shyly but willingly to children and students. But especially to children.

Once I knew a forester who wanted to organize a shoot because, he said, the squirrels were destroying the cones on his silver fir. What his qualifications as a forester were I do not know, but he was unaware that the upright cones on the silver fir disintegrate on the tree. His ignorance could have been rough on the squirrels.

In Spain they tell you that prunes are the best bait for squirrel; in France, they insist upon the superiority of fish; and in Britain they swear by the kipper; but here in Toronto I can vouch for what we used to call the monkey nut, and more elegantly known to us now as the peanut.

The peach tree is heavy with blossom and our lilac bushes are in full flower. At seven each morning an old grey female and three black squirrels fly from bush to bush till they are established among the lilac and the peach blossoms and there they wait.

When my little son's morning voice cuts the still hour and shrieks through the open window, the squirrels scramble from their watch towers and scuffle about the back porch. It is time for breakfast.

The boy goes from his room straight to the kitchen, pulls up a chair and from his cupboard draws their ration of peanuts-in-the-shell.

The old grey lady knows his step. When I unlock for him the door to the porch, she is already half way up the screen.

For the three blacks he scatters four nuts on the floor. Two of the blacks take each a nut and mount the rail. The third one packs two nuts into his mouth and takes off through the bushes for the garage roof. On the crown of the roof he sits in splendor and begins his breakfast.

But the old grey lady comes down from the screen and settles at the little boy's feet. Paws reaching, like a diminutive dog, she begs for her breakfast and takes the peanut from his hand, sometimes in her paws, more often in her mouth. A short retreat, but no more than a couple of feet, and she settles to the business of the hour. Until the meal is over, she is not beyond his reach.

She turns her nut in her paws, round and round, then end over end, and the ritual inspection over, cracks an end in

Vienna Talks

Benefit May Come

By ELMARETH BARKER

PRESIDENT KENNEDY has returned home from his voyage of discovery in Europe in a mood of sober but clear-sighted resolution.

The president's aim was very like Mr. Macmillan's when he made his pioneer visit to Moscow early in 1959. He also shared with Mr. Macmillan a second aim; to enable Mr. Khrushchev to make a similar discovery about the West.

On both occasions the international situation was threatening with Mr. Khrushchev wishing to set a time limit on what he chose to call a solution of the Berlin problem. Mr. Macmillan could have said, as Mr. Kennedy has said: "I wanted to make certain that he understood our strength and determination and know that we desired peace with all nations of every kind."

Both Western leaders wanted to remove the danger of war through miscalculation. Both felt they achieved something. Mr. Kennedy summed up the main achievement of his Vienna talks in this way: "At least the channels of communication were opened more fully; at least the chances of a dangerous misjudgment on either side should now be less; at least the men on whose decisions the peace in part depends have agreed to remain in contact."

Everyone who wants peace knows that this achievement, though unspectacular is valuable. When Mr. Kennedy first took office he hoped to use the normal and traditional channels of diplomacy in preference to top-level contacts. Certainly where two powers share certain basic aims and ways of thought negotiation can usually be conducted more efficiently through these normal channels.

Where, however—as with the West and the Communist powers—there is such a strong opposition of fundamental aims, where the same words mean much different things to the two sides, then top-level personal contacts become vital if even the minimum of understanding is to be reached.

More than once Mr. Kennedy used the word "sombre" to describe his talks with Mr. Khrushchev. This is natural.

The Packback

At Their Ease

By GREGORY CLARK

ONE of my friends who accidentally has made a lot of money in recent years, is finding trouble trying to act and look as if he had money.

"I envy and admire," he said, "people in a restaurant who act as if there was no body else in the crowded restaurant but them. They are all ignoring everybody. They never look around at the rest of us. They eat and talk and laugh, entirely at their ease. Even when they get up and leave, you would think they were departing from an empty room."

Another thing that bothers him is clothes.

"It seems to me," he says, "that nobody dresses with more distinction than an Englishman. I flew to England and spent what used to be a year's salary for me on the best clothes from the best tailors. I certainly looked like a distinguished Englishman when I was through. And then I proceeded to meet a number of distinguished Englishmen to whom I had letters of introduction in connection with my financial affairs. They were the dowdiest characters you ever saw. They all looked as if they were wearing somebody else's clothes."

What he doesn't yet understand is that when you have money, it doesn't matter whether you look or act like it. It is only when you haven't money that you have to try to conceal the fact.

MPs Hail Chatterton

OTTAWA (UPI) — Desk-thumping applause greeted George Chatterton, new Esquimalt-Saanich MP, and three other recently-elected members as they took their Commons seats yesterday for the first time. Mr. Chatterton was introduced to Speaker Roland Michener by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Justice Minister Fulton.

'No Evil' Monkeys Bad for Humanity

VANCOUVER (CP) — The three little monkeys who see no evil, hear no evil and tell no evil hold no hope if the world is to face realities and avoid destruction of the human race, Dr. Brock Chisholm told the Canadian Dietetic Association here.

He said the monkeys stand for the preservation of the status quo by refusing to acknowledge anything frightening. This suits most of humanity because it is more comfortable for most people to believe in the old ideas of social morality, he said.

But the old ideas that it is virtuous to fight for one's country, kill one's enemies and take from weaker peoples offered disaster in a world in which the human race could be destroyed three times over.

"If you have any of those little figurines about the house, throw them out," said the former director general of the World Health Organization.

Flowers to Welcome Florists' Convention

Victoria's "garden city" reputation will move indoors at the weekend as downtown motels and hotels deck their lobbies with flowers to welcome visiting florists.

About 200 delegates from B.C., Washington and Oregon will be here Saturday for the two-day annual convention of Unit 11-B, Florist Telegraph Delivery Association.

Convention headquarters will be the Ingraham Hotel, which will feature a special "corsage bar" as well as floral decorations throughout the lobby and banquet hall.

A fashion show, conducted by Vancouver florist Grace McCarthy, will highlight Sunday evening's program. Then arrangements used in the design school by eight Victoria florists will be auctioned.

Sunday's entire program will be held in the Monterey Restaurant. The public is invited to both the fashion show and auction.

Assets Lost to U.S.

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Invasion of Canada by U.S. investors has become so great the Canadian government has taken measures to stop it, the president of the Toronto stock exchange said Wednesday.

Howard Graham told the American Society of Corporate Secretaries that foreign investments, mostly American, had reached a total of 61 per cent of Canada's gross national production.

Graham also disclosed that Americans control 44 per cent of Canadian manufacturing.

"It is doubtful," he added, "that Canadians will ever be in a position to buy back these assets. Out of $22,300,000,000 now invested by non-Canadians, 75 per cent comes from the United States."

Marathon Trips Bad Holiday Drivers Told

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Automobile Association Wednesday cautioned holiday drivers against marathon driving.

The association said drivers should travel about 300 miles daily on regular roads and 400 on freeways. Those attempting 600-mile jumps increase the possibility of their becoming involved in accidents due to fatigue and car breakdowns.

VIP's Wife Protests Slum Home

STOCKHOLM—Mrs. Alma Erlander thinks her apartment is little short of an "outright slum" and has asked the government to do something about it.

What makes her different from hundreds of other disgruntled housewives is that her husband is Premier Tage Erlander.

With six other tenants in a three-storey apartment house in suburban Bromma, she wrote to the state authority controlling apartment houses demanding their flats be inspected and the owner ordered to make repairs.

The Erlanders' six-room flat has a rent of $60 a month—remarkably low in Sweden. They have lived in the same apartment for years—all the apartments have not been repainted for 20 years.

MOSCOW—Nikita Khrushchev will give the Soviet nation a television and radio report today on his Vienna talks with President Kennedy.

LONDON—Queen Mother Elizabeth, 60, has cracked a small bone in her foot. Officials did not say how the injury occurred.

OTTAWA—The Defence Research Board has decided to take no disciplinary action "at this time" against employee Dr. J. M. Chaput, 42, vocal advocate of secession by Quebec from the rest of Canada.

SWEETSBURG, Que.—Lawyer John Goddard asked bail for Abel Vosburgh, 63, charged with murdering his wife and 11 of their children in a fire, on the ground Vosburgh may have lung cancer.

SANTIAGO, Chile—Touring U.S. ambassador Adlai Stevenson, whose arrival Tuesday touched off an anti-U.S. student riot, drew cheers yesterday as he walked through the streets to meet President Alessandri. He leaves today for Bolivia.

LONDON—Actress Elizabeth Taylor made headlines of a different sort when she put a portrait up for auction. Her "Frame Male" "Portrait of a Gentleman" brought $18,500.

British MPs Hit Move By Canada

LONDON (UPI)—British MPs yesterday attacked as "discriminatory" a Canadian proposal to restrict Great Lakes shipping to Canadian-registered vessels.

But transport Minister Ernest Marples told the House of Commons he hasn't yet protested to the Canadian government.

Labor Party member John Rankin asked if Marples was aware the Canadian proposal "would do great damage to this country because of our dependence on exports."

'OPEN TO ALL'

Conservative John Howard, describing the proposal as "this piece of discrimination," asked if Britain imposes similar restrictions on Canadian ships.

No, said Marples. "Coastal trade is open freely to ships of all flags and that is not so with this recent proposal from Canada."

($31,800). Top price at the auction, $140,000 ($382,000) was paid for Goya's famous portrait of the first Duke of Wellington.

LONDON—Soviet engineer Oleg Lomchevsky, 46, who came to Britain on a UN grant, has been given political asylum. He was studying water purification.

NEW YORK—Kingpin gambler Frank Costello, winding up a 3½-year prison term for income tax evasion, was returned to New York to face a U.S. government drive to deport him to Italy.

LONDON—Defence Minister Harold Watkinson said he will have an announcement "shortly" on reports the U.S. is to close five of its military bases in Britain.

ELIZABETH, N.J.—Florida Carer, 11, died despite surgery to save her after she choked on a cap she had bitten off a lemon juice container. She had been making lemonade and could not open the container.

CARACAS, Venezuela—Anti-U.S. students forced U.S. ambassador Tondoro Monrovia to take refuge in a university building for more than two hours before leaving the campus under police escort.

GRAND FORKS—John Varigita, Orthodox Doukhor leader-designate, was convicted of assault and fined $25 by Judge M. M. Colquhoun of Penitentiary. He was charged with assaulting Edward Podunovskoff, 18, a Sons of Freedom Doukhor, last January.

Fleming Pulls Few Punches

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming pulled few punches in the Commons yesterday in dealing with Bank of Canada Governor James E. Coyne's actions.

And he described the Liberal and CCF parties—both of which have criticized Mr. Coyne's policies—as "the declared champions" of the central bank governor.

The finance minister said Mr. Coyne had embroiled the bank in continuous political controversy "by a course of ill-considered action and a series of public declarations of policy on public issues quite outside the realm of central banking and by his rigid and doctrinaire expression of views, often and openly incompatible with government policy."

'Attitude Rigid'

One example, he said, was "Mr. Coyne's rigid attitude on the maintenance of high interest rates."

Government policy was expansionist. "The policies advocated by Mr. Coyne are restrictionist—restrictive of trade, restrictive of production and restrictive of jobs."

Important matters requiring greater co-operation between central bank and government than ever before were awaiting decision.

"It has become impossible to expect this kind of co-operation as long as the present governor remains in office."

Request Rejected

Mr. Fleming said he had tried throughout to spare Mr. Coyne embarrassment. If the governor had complied with the May 30 request for his resignation, the bank governors would have been able to take action on it this week and might have named a successor with the cabinet's approval.

"Mr. Coyne, however, has chosen to reject the request and to provoke a controversy."

Referring to Mr. Coyne's statement of a "mysterious and alarming" suggestion by the minister that he—Mr. Coyne—might oppose pending government programs, Mr. Fleming said he wanted to make clear that the governor

Coyne Pension

Was Government Kept in Dark?

Special to the Colonist
OTTAWA—A mystery surrounding the Coyne crisis on Parliament Hill is whether the government was aware of the Bank of Canada's board of directors back in February, 1960 had boosted the governor's pension.

Demanding James Coyne's resignation from the post of governor of the bank, Finance Minister Fleming insisted in the Commons Wednesday that the government had not been informed of the change until only this spring.

PEARSON SHOCKED

Opposition leader Pearson said it was "incredible" that a meeting of the board of directors of the Bank of Canada could be held at which important decisions were taken and the decisions were not brought to the attention of the finance minister.

TWO MEN KNEW

Senior officials of the central bank point out that two top employees of the finance department were aware of the pension bylaw change. The two are Kenneth Taylor, deputy finance minister, and A. F. W. Plumptre, an assistant deputy minister of finance.

As an ex-officio member of the board, Mr. Taylor usually attends all meetings of the bank's directors. But he missed the Feb. 15, 1960 meeting and was replaced by Mr. Plumptre.

Meantime Mr. Coyne told a press conference that the disputed $25,000 retirement pension may never be collected.

had not been told of the contents of the forthcoming budget.

Referring to the pension issue—"this handsome increase in pension"—Mr. Fleming said the government became aware only this spring of the increase approved by the bank directors Feb. 15 last year.

He said Mr. Coyne was "lacking in a sense of responsibility" in accepting the additional benefit without ensuring the government knew about it.

Mr. Fleming said "a strong successor will be chosen" to take Mr. Coyne's place. That was the wish of both the government and the central bank.

Study Called

Mr. Pearson said there were contradictions between the statements of Mr. Coyne and the minister.

He called for a special study of the affair by a Commons committee—a request which brought no firm answer from the government.

The Opposition leader said Mr. Fleming's request for the governor's resignation was "unwarranted intervention in the affairs of the bank... by a government which only a few months ago claimed it had no authority over the bank or its management."

He quoted one past statement by the minister that in the event of a clash between bank and government, the government had no power to dismiss the governor.

Statement Queried

"If this kind of activity becomes common on the part of the government—this heads-will-roll attitude—we will not be a free country for too long."

Mr. Pearson said the minister's statement about conflicting policies was "completely contradicted" by Mr. Coyne who had said the government had never expressed disagreement with bank operations.

He questioned Mr. Fleming's statement that the minister hadn't heard about the increase in pension until this year. He termed the statement "incredible."

Confidence Hit

The minister had given no satisfactory explanation of the government's "shocking and irresponsible action."

The relationship between the bank and government had been shown up "in a fashion

Old Foes Support Coyne

TORONTO (CP)—Some University of Toronto professors, who signed a letter last December calling for the removal of James Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada, Wednesday supported Mr. Coyne's refusal to resign on the issue put up by Finance Minister Fleming.

All criticized Mr. Fleming for demanding the resignation on the ground given—that of a new pension setup that would improve Mr. Coyne's position on his resignation—though each said he disagreed with many of Mr. Coyne's policies.

Old Style AGE

slower brewing is an Old Style tradition

Old Style is calmly brewed, with no concern for time. Faithful to our original recipe, carefully selected barley, hops and yeast are blended, brewed and, finally, put away to mature slowly in quiet ageing cellars. Brewed in this traditionally unhurried manner, Old Style's brilliant colour, fine flavour, and mellow taste mature naturally. Slower brewing is the reason so many people prefer Old Style.

Stop Power Export—Opposition

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lead of the CCF and the Liberals' B.C. hydro power to the U.S. Mr. Strachan made a direct appeal in a letter to Prime Minister Diefenbaker while Mr. Perrault urged federal B.C. action in a detailed statement on Liberal power-export policy.

Mr. Perrault said that, instead of devising means to find large scale markets in the U.S., the government should launch a campaign to encourage new major power-oriented industries to establish in B.C.

CAMPAIGN URGED

Mr. Perrault said that, instead of devising means to find large scale markets in the U.S., the government should launch a campaign to encourage new major power-oriented industries to establish in B.C.

"Working with the federal government, B.C. should exert every possible pressure upon the U.S. to encourage it to expand its importation of electro-process materials such as aluminum from Canada."

MORE INDUSTRY

This would mean more local industry and many new jobs. "The premier's... talk about an eager and waiting re-export market is foolish and utterly irresponsible," he said. "We (the Liberals) can see no substantial market for export power in the northwest until at least 1970. My estimate now has been advanced... to at least 1975."

USE INFLUENCE

Mr. Strachan appealed to Mr. Diefenbaker to use his influence in preventing sale of Columbia River Power.

He said this export would deny Canadians cheap public power "simply to facilitate the sale of uneconomic Peace River power by a foreign-controlled private company."

The CCF leader also urged a campaign to stimulate industrial development in B.C. and quoted B.C. Electric president A. E. Grauer as saying:

"Sale of this power to the U.S. will, of course, stimulate development there and not in British Columbia."

Stop Inquiry In Quebec Court Asked

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — A superior court judge Wednesday took under advisement a petition seeking to quash a royal commission inquiry into Quebec's former Union Nationale government.

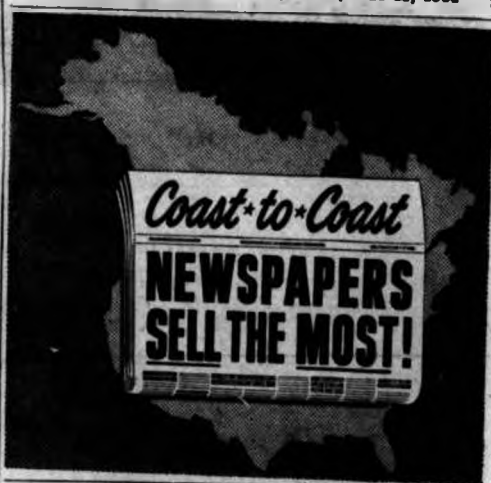

The petition, filed by legislative councillor Joseph Bou langer, charged Premier Jean Lesage's Liberal administration, which unseated the Union Nationale at the polls a year ago, exceeded its powers by setting up the commission.

Gorge Lead Sliced

Only a strong effort by Dave Fanthorpe kept the Inter-Club Golf League from becoming a close three-way battle in last night's fourth match but defending-champion Gorge Vale had its lead cut to three and a half points when underdog Victoria came close to a sweep.

Playing on its home links, the Victoria team upset Gorge Vale, 7-2, as Gorge stars Bill Wakeham, John Merriman, Art Donaldson and Norm Boden all went down to defeat. Merriman and Wakeham were beaten for the first time in four matches as was Uplands' Gordie Fellow.

Wakeham, off form, was beaten by Bill McCall, who shot a one-over 70, 4 and 2, and Merriman, who matched Roy Chappell's two-under-par 31 on the first nine, couldn't match Chappell's back-nine 41 and lost by two holes. The Victoria pair made it a sweep with a 3 and 2 win in the four-ball.

Royal Colwood 15½
Next matches: Wednesday, 5.30 p.m.—Victoria at Colwood; Uplands at Gorge Vale.

Cliff Horwood, carding a 33-38, knocked off Art Donaldson, 1 up, but Fanthorpe's play got Gorge Vale its only two points.

UNDES PAR
Shooting a one-under 33-35, Fanthorpe raced to a 6 and 4 win over weak-putting Al Manson and Fanthorpe's scoring was the big factor in the 2 and 1 four-ball win for the Gorge pair.

But it was another sweep for Victoria in the third pairing. Dr. George Bigelow bested youthful Norm Boden for the first time in three tries, 2 and 1, and partner Laurie Carroll took Fred Painter, 2 up. A fast finish by the Oak Bay combination won both singles matches and the four-ball, 2 and 1.

TWO WAS ENOUGH

Meanwhile, at Uplands, the runner-up home team was prevented from making a big gain mainly by the fine play of Colwood's Laurie Kerr and Bill Court, the main reasons Colwood won by 5-4.

Kerr, hitting 16 greens and scoring successive birdies on the 14th, 15th and 16th, shot a par 70 in handling Fellow his first setback.

Kerr's partner, George Andrews, took Calude Heggie, 2 and 1, and the Colwood pairing made it a sweep with a 4 and 3 four-ball win.

TOP FORM

Court, shooting four birdies and even with par after 17 holes, bested Frank Scroggs, 4 and 3, and it was the play of the Colwood pro which did the most to win the four-ball match, 1 up, as partner Bill Garner took a 5 and 4 facing from Joe Briggs.

GORGE VALE AT VICTORIA
Bill Wakeham beaten by Bill McCall, 4 and 3; John Merriman beaten by Roy Chappell, 3 up; Wakeham and Merriman lost four-ball, 3 and 1; Art Donaldson beaten by Cliff Horwood, 1 up; Dave Fanthorpe defeated Al Manson, 6 and 4; Donaldson and Fanthorpe won four-ball, 3 and 1; Norm Boden beaten by George Bigelow, 3 and 1; Fred Painter beaten by Laurie Carroll, 3 up; Boden and Painter lost four-ball, 3 and 1.

COLORADO AT UPLANDS
Laurie Kerr defeated Gordie Fellow, 6 and 4; George Andrews defeated Claude Heggie, 3 and 1; Kerr and Andrews won four-ball, 4 and 3; The Painter beaten by Ron Lawson, 1 up; Roger Benn beaten by Fred Haggan, 1 and 1; Painter and Benn lost four-ball, 1 up.
Bill Court defeated Frank Scroggs, 4 and 3; Bill Garner beaten by Joe Briggs, 3 and 4; Court and Garner won four-ball, 1 up.

Sgt. Ed Zwolack came home from the annual B.C. Rifle Association shoot at Vancouver's Blair Range last weekend with more trophies than he could carry. He was individual winner in McNeil Aggregate, Logana Match, Service Rifle Championship and Service Conditions Aggregate and highest scorer in inter-service matches. He was also member of winning PPCLI team in Lang Memorial Trophy, Inter-Service Match, Tyro team match and Wilkerson Challenge Shield.—(Canadian Army photo.)

PPCLI Riflemen Ready for Bisley

Canada's top service rifle team will leave Victoria on Monday to compete in the internationally famous Bisley shoot in England next month.

The team, which will be led by Capt. Hank Penkritz, are all members of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and is rated as one of the best army teams to ever represent Canada.

Other team members are Sgt. Ed Zwolack, who was the leading winner in the B.C. Rifle Association shoot last weekend at Vancouver's Blair Range, L-Cpl. Frank Tenta, Pte. John Matthews, Pte. Al Dubois, Pte. Dave Moffat and Pte. Ron Gebhardt.

Eighteen trophies and awards were won by team members at least week's BCRA shoot.

The second PPCLI rifle team, captained by WO2 Smoky Smith, recently won the army's Western Command rifle championship at Wainwright and earned the right to compete next month in the annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot at Ottawa's Connaught Ranges.

Speaking Briefly

Daley to Yanks

New York Yankees may have acquired the pennant insurance they needed yesterday in a trade which was unexpected although it was made with the Kansas City Athletics.

In a two-for-one deal, the Yankees sent righthander Art Danyee and Deron Johnson, a rookie outfielder turned third baseman, to the Athletics in return for Bud Daley, south-paw knuckleball pitcher.

Although only 4-8 this season, Daley had a 16-16 record with the last-place Kansas City club last year and at one time during the season was 12-4.

VOW BROKEN

It was the 17th deal, involving 64 players, between the two clubs since 1955 but it came as a surprise because Charles Finley, new owner of the Athletics, had vowed he wouldn't make another deal with the Yankees.

Finley even arranged a little ceremony before the season began, buying an old bus and setting it on fire before invited newspapermen.

"This," he said at the time, "signifies the end of the shuttle service between the New York and Kansas City clubs."

As late as last Friday, Finley reiterated there would be no dealings with the Yankees but he said last night that he had given in to the pleadings of general manager Frank Lane, himself a Yankee-hater of no mean stature.

BILLY GARDNER, veteran second-baseman, was traded to New York Yankees yesterday by Minnesota Twins in exchange for southpaw Danny McDevitt.

Chicago White Sox have asked waivers on Earl Torgerson, veteran first baseman, and Minnesota Twins have released outfielder Elmer Vale.

Vancouver Mounties picked up added pitching strength yesterday when they received George Brunet on option from Milwaukee Braves.

Queen Elizabeth's Almsing High yesterday won the Canadian Stakes at Ascot.

Joe Carr, the 39-year-old defending champion from Ireland, yesterday reached the fourth round of the British amateur golf championship when he rolled in an eight-foot putt on the 21st green to beat Charlie Green, a little-known Scot.

Alan Leonard (of Vancouver and Al Belding of Toronto, Canada's top professional golfers, will play in the Canadian Open, at Winnipeg July 12-15.

Palmer or Player Is Guess in Open

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP)—Arno Palmer, cool and bold, and Gary Player, the cocky, jazz-loving bantam from South Africa, resume their duel today, heading a select field of 150 in the 61st U.S. Open Golf Championships.

It's the first official crack for Masters champion Palmer and defending Open champion Player at Oakland Hills, a challenging golf course that Ben Hogan termed "the monster."

And hereabouts, most will tell you that either Palmer or Player probably will be at the top of the list when it is all over late Saturday.

Hogan, at 68 still the best 100-to-green golfer around, is back seeking an unprecedented fifth championship. Also back is Sam Snead, the 49-year-old wonder who has grabbed for the National Open title 20 consecutive times.

The course and the prospect of reasonably cool weather may be suited to Hogan, but Old Ben has been off his speed as a putter for four or five years. And Oakland Hills' greens, with their dips, doddles and curves, are no place for a man with a sick putter.

Snead, who claims he's a better golfer right now than he was 10 years ago, has been on one of the hottest streaks of his quarter-century career—winning in order the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions, the Sam Snead Festival and the International Canada Cup, the last three tournaments he's entered.

Best Victoria Bid This Year Almost Stops Boxla Leaders

By JIM TALOR

New Westminster's unbeaten string in the Inter-City Lacrosse League was stretched, twisted and almost snapped at Memorial Arena last night.

The final score was 9-7, but Arnie Ferguson's Victoria club was better value than they got breakaways, and twice they shot wild.

Victoria probably lost the game in the first five minutes. Johnston, playing with a badly pulled leg muscle, let in two soft ones and Ken Oddy scored on the power play to make it 3-0.

Victoria came back on a goal by Jack May and another on a fine shot by Tom Collett but let up slightly in the final minute of the quarter and it cost them two goals. Jack Barclay went through two men to score, then set up Cliff Sepka for a breakaway goal seconds later.

It was 9-6 starting the fourth quarter, and Victoria did what no other club has been able to do this season—held New Westminster scoreless. John Hanson scored for Vics on an alert play, and in the last 10 minutes New Westminster was stalling desperately.

Tonight the clubs meet again in New Westminster, and it's a cinch Victoria will be regarded with considerably more respect than in the past by Jack Byford and company.

Another Little League Fatality

COCOA, Fla. (UPI)—A 12-year-old boy was fatally struck in the throat by a pitched ball Wednesday to become the fourth youth to die in Little League baseball play throughout the nation in the past month.

The youngster, Brumit Eates, collapsed after being struck and died before he reached a hospital. He was struck on the vague nerve, which controls heart action.

Three little league players died during May as a result of playingfield injuries. Barry J. Babcock, 10, of Temple City, Calif., died May 19 after being hit on the chest by a pitched ball; a wild pitch fatally struck Larry Richards, 13, in the head at Bloomfield, Ky., on May 24, and George McCormick, 10, died May 29, five days after he was hit on the head with a line drive during a little league tryout in a Chicago suburb.

Another little leaguer, Joey Graham, 12, lay critically ill in a hospital at Jacksonville, Fla., for nearly a month as a result of an infection in a knee injury received in a little league game in Atlanta on May 1. He now is listed in "fair" condition.

POWER WIN

San Francisco Giants, on the march again, shared second place after an 11-2 trimming of Milwaukee Braves.

Ed Bailey, with two home runs and a single for a perfect day, Willie Mays and Harvey Kueen led the Giant attack. Mays had a home run among his three hits and batted in three runs while Kueen hit a triple and two doubles.

Warren Spahn, seeking his 28th career win, went out in the seven-run seventh with his seventh defeat of the season—against seven victories.

Curling Club Expansion Needs Another Meeting

Decision of whether or not the Victoria Curling Club will expand to a family club with vastly-increased recreation facilities will be made at a special meeting called for Wednesday, June 28.

No vote was taken at Tuesday night's annual meeting, which dragged on into Wednesday morning and was finally adjourned following considerable confusion, the last of which was over a voting technicality.

Stan's Four-Hitter Wins for Optimists

Victoria Optimists, whose fine pitching staff has kept them on top of the Conna Mack Baseball League, got a four-hitter from Stan Thane last night and posted a 2-1 victory over Young Liberals.

Losing pitcher John Yankowski was almost as effective, giving up only five hits.

TIGERS SHARE LEAD
Detroit Tigers pulled even with the Indians, a game ahead of the Yanks, by taking advantage of Boston errors to beat the Red Sox, 4-2. The difference was the two runs which scored on errors by third-baseman Frank Malzone.

Feature of other American League action was a continuing indication that Chicago White Sox may have at last snapped out of a season-long slump.

Not long ago 10th in a 10-team league, the Pale Hose swept their second straight doubleheader with 4-1 and 9-8 wins over Los Angeles Angels and moved close to seventh place.

DOGGIES AHEAD

Los Angeles Dodgers regained the National League lead with Don Drysdale pitching his second straight game to blank Chicago Cubs, 7-0. Drysdale, a hitting pitcher, contributed to his own cause with a home run and rookie Tom Davis helped out with his 10th homer.

Horses, Stablehands, Riders Shortchanged In Racing's $3,000,000,000 Business

Headlines Card

Former middleweight campaigner Bobby Boyd, now fighting in the light-heavyweight ranks, will meet an unnamed opponent in main event of professional boxing card Wednesday, June 29, at Memorial Arena. Complete card will be announced later.

By JACK HULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Last year more than 37,000,000 persons went to the races in the United States, Canada and Mexico and wagered close to three billion dollars. These are all-time-high figures and, as they say around the stables, it ain't hay.

IT'S CUT UP

It follows naturally that the racetrack operators are in big business. It isn't all gravy—they paid about $255,000,000 in taxes to the states, provincial and federal governments, another $100,000,000 in purses to the horse owners and a handy piece of change for operating expenses.

Generally, one would deduce the tracks made handsome profits. So, it is only natural to believe that thoroughbred racing represents a fantastic success story.

In dollars and cents, that is absolutely true. But it doesn't follow that the stables smell like a bed of roses.

FIRE TRAPS

The National Association of State Racing Commissioners, the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association and the Jockey's Guild came up with some eyebrow-raising comments and statistics in Toronto last week.

There was no doubt the track operators were doing everything possible to make it comfortable for the bettors and the horse owners. But, as someone remarked, how about the horses themselves and the unsung heroes of the backstretch—the stablehands?

Most stables, said one report to the NASRC annual convention, are nothing but fire traps. And if figures were needed, the report said that the fatality rate is in excess of 40 horses a year over the last 10 years. The monetary loss in that period was more than $500,000,000.

NO LUXURY HERE

Living and eating conditions for the stablehands are horrible, said another.

"Three and four men live in one room and they're afraid to open their mouths," said Hirsch Jacobs of New York, possibly the world's foremost trainer.

He put the finger specifically on two of the most unlikely—Santa Anita in Los Angeles and Hialeah, just outside Miami, Fla. These tracks are big time with $100,000-purse races on their programs.

The jockeys had their say to the NASRC, the association that supervises racing. They showed films of spills that killed and maimed horses and jockeys. The idea was to show that jockeys should receive more money for mounts. The NASRC agreed with them.

but it is up to the horse owners to say whether they'll go along with the recommendation for higher fees.

The present fee for a jockey on a losing mount in a race with a purse of $2,000 and up now is $20 unless, of course, he has a private arrangement with the owners. The jocks ask that it be increased to $25.

Statistics show that the average owner races approximately two or three horses a year and each horse goes to the post 12 times a year. If the owners agree to the $25 fee on the $2,000 and up events, it would average $180 a year per owner.

Now it is up to the NASRC men to do something about the various grievances. But, as one delegate pointed out, "we hear these stories year after year at our annual convention and then promptly forget about them."

Manager Says Patterson Has to Be Good Citizen

NEW YORK (AP) — Cus D'Amato, manager of boxing champion Floyd Patterson, says Sonny Liston has disqualified himself as a contender for the world heavyweight title.

Liston was arrested in Philadelphia Monday on charges of impersonating a policeman, resisting arrest, conspiracy and operating a vehicle without lights.

"I believe that people in Washington would expect Floyd Patterson, as a good citizen, not to fight such a fellow," D'Amato said in an interview Tuesday.

"And I feel that Patterson, as a good citizen, will not fight him."

D'Amato, who has insisted Liston "must cleanse himself" to become eligible for a shot at Patterson, said he has not discussed Liston's most recent trouble with the champion.

"But I think I know very well how Floyd feels about the situation."

Liston, No. 1 contender for the title, was picked up with Isaac Cooper, 26, Liston, who has had a long series of brushes with the law, and Cooper, were accused of stopping Mrs. Dolores Ellis, 28, of suburban Lansdown, as she drove through a lovely section of Fairmount Park. Mrs. Ellis was not harmed.

Liston, who said nothing, appeared in court yesterday and his hearing was set over until July 1 when his fast-talking manager, George Katz, said the fighter's lawyer was in California for two weeks. Katz posted the $300 bonds for Liston and Cooper.

In Philadelphia, lawyer Alfred Klein, a member of the three-man Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, said Liston would be called before the commission to explain his recent brushes with the law.

San Francisco Set As Ninth WHL Club

San Francisco will operate in the Western Hockey League next season, a Vancouver report said yesterday.

Coley Hall, who owns the San Francisco franchise, and management of the Cow Palace, where games will be played, came to an agreement yesterday.

Admission of San Francisco sets up a nine-club league which will play in American—Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Spokane—and Canadian—Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, and Winnipeg—divisions.

Vancouver's problems eased somewhat yesterday when general manager Muzz Patrick announced that New York Rangers had made agreements with both Los Angeles and Vancouver to supply players. Los Angeles-owner Jim Piggott and Art Chapman, who is expected to manage Canucks this season, had both claimed agreements with Rangers. Patrick said that Rangers had signed a formal agreement with Piggott to supply "a number of players" and had an informal agreement with Vancouver.

Women Clash On Mat Card

Women wrestlers make another appearance at Memorial Arena Saturday night, headlining a four-bout card starting at 8:30.

In the feature bout Judy Grable and Fran Gravette face Jane Perez and Silvia Torres. Miss Gravette and Miss Perez also meet in a preliminary bout.

Other bouts feature Ivan Kammeroff against Danno McDonald and Doug Lindsay against Mitsuru Arakawa.

Aussies Get Stiff Battle

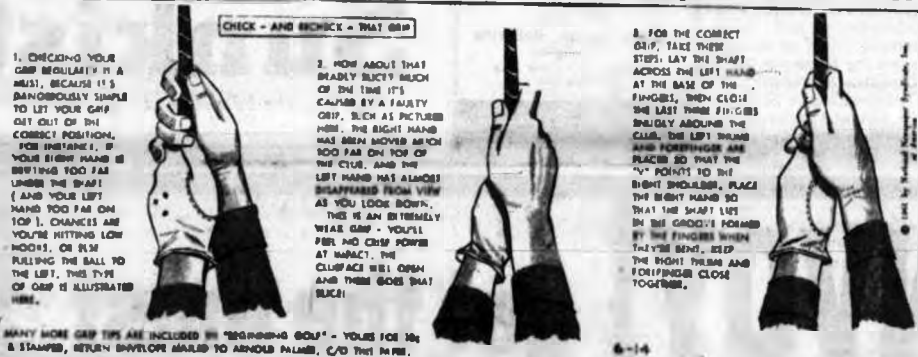

LEICESTER, England (Reuters)—A century by 27-year-old Robin Gardner for Leicestershire was the highlight of the first day's play in the county's match against the Australian touring team Wednesday.

After losing three wickets for 10 runs, Leicestershire made a good recovery to total 239. At the close, the Australians had made 58 for the loss of Bobby Simpson and Brian Booth.

Gardner's 102 not out was the highest score of his career. Other close-of-play scores: Oxford University 229 for 7 declared; MCC 38 for no wicket; Warwickshire 207; Cambridge University 28 for 3; Hampshire 326 for 4 declared; Northamptonshire 5 for 1; Somerset 238; Surrey 34 for 1; Lancashire 223 for 3 declared; Glamorgan 32 for 1; Middlesex 230; Yorkshire 97 for 4; Nottinghamshire 189; Somerset 213 for 1; Scotland 188; MCC 115 for 7.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Three bingo operators were convicted Wednesday of keeping a common betting house Wednesday after a Magistrate James Rennicks said it was clear the bingo had been operated twice weekly by the Loyal Order of the Moose Lodge. Two of the accused are officers of the lodge.

The judgment noted nightly rental was paid for a hall, houses were chartered to bring in players from surrounding districts and fares were paid by the Moose Lodge.

Starting to Judging

Quadra PTA Holds First Track Meet

A track meet held by the Quadra Elementary School PTA at Topaz Park yesterday was the first sponsored and run by the PTA group.

The annual event is usually undertaken by the teachers. They made way for the PTA, which handled everything from starting to judging.

Among those competing were Jack Harper, 11, Ingrid Pedersen, 13, and Grace Graham, 11, who previously took high honors at the all-school track meet at Victoria High School in May.

Results of yesterday's meet:
Girls six years: 60 yards—1. Jessica Denault, 1. Debbie Elich, 1. Irene Milowah; boys six years: 60 yards—1. Lindsay Leavelle, 1. Bobby Chisholm, 1. Larry Parkinson; girls seven years: 60 yards—1. Laurette Morrison, 1. Kirby Leavelle, 1. Kay Peterson; boys seven years: 60 yards—1. Joe Milowah, 1. Sam Pattison, 1. Danny Tyrell.

National Hockey League clubs were able to protect the stars they wanted to keep but eight players were picked up yesterday in the inter-club draft and along with a couple of trades, they assured quite a few lineup changes for next season.

Boston Bruins and New York Rangers, as befitting clubs which missed the Stanley Cup playdowns, were the most active in the player market.

Club-by-club additions and subtractions:

KURTENBACH PICKED

Bruins drafted three players, two who should help next season and one who appears to have a promising career ahead of him. They took centre Orland Kurtenbach, with Vancouver Canucks until late last season, from New York Rangers; Earl Balfour, a fine defensive forward, from Chicago Black Hawks, and Pete Stapleton, a young defenceman who also belonged to the Hawks.

In return, the Hawks picked two players from the Bruins who figure to help—centre Bronco Horvath and defenceman Autry Erickson.

RANGERS TAKE TWO

Rangers also added two via the draft, picking up forward Jean-Guy Gendron from Montreal Canadiens and Vic Hadfield, a highly-rated 20-year-old forward who played with Buffalo last season, from Chicago.

Toronto Maple Leafs drafted veteran-defenceman Al Arbour from Chicago while Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings passed up the NHL draft.

CANADIENS GET LOU

Canadiens, however, added defenceman Louie Fontinato, who came from the Rangers to complete the deal which sent defenceman Doug Harvey to New York as player coach. And the Wings purchased Howie Young, the aggressive young defenceman who played with them most of last season, from Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League. The Bears received defenceman Marc Reaume and forwards Pete Conacher and Jack McIntyre.

Detroit also made a deal with Chicago which brought Eddie Litzenberger, a veteran forward, in exchange for winger Jerry Melnyk and Brian Smith, a minor-league forward.

Duck Population Hit by Drought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Drought again has driven large numbers of ducks from the most productive portion of their North American breeding range—the Prairie Pothole region—the interior department reported Wednesday.

As a result, the threat of another duck crop failure in this area looms for 1961, the Fish and Wildlife Service said.

The 1959 duck crop in the area was regarded as a failure and production was below expectations last year.

The service added, however, that the over-all status of the duck breeding population this year and its distribution pattern are not yet entirely clear. In Canada, the aerial survey flights in the southern half of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba have been completed but only preliminary reports have been received from three survey teams further north.

From information received so far, the service said, it appears that the breeding population is about the same as it was a year ago, and apparently smaller than the population at the start of the 1959 nesting season.

"Survey data this year revealed the mallard population in the southern portions of the three Prairie provinces is 55 per cent below the peak of 1958," the service said. "Pintail ducks are down 79 per cent from a peak in 1956."

"The preliminary information from the far north is as follows:

"The crew operating in Alaska reports no change in breeding ducks of species important to hunters. The crew in northern Alberta and Northwest Territories says ducks, which are normally Prairie nesters, are up considerably. The crew flying northern Saskatchewan, northern Manitoba, and in Ontario voices the possibility that the over-all duck nesting population will be down from 1960 levels."

The duck nesting areas will be flown again in July.

D. Thom won the "A" flight and main trophy in the Pete Davis seniors golf competition at Cedar Hill Golf Club with a net 57.

W. Barnes took the "B" division with a net 58 and Jack Elliott the "C" class with net 59.

Garden Notes

Too Much Gravel!

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

We seem to have more than our share of gravelly soil on Vancouver Island. Not only do we have pockets of such soil in and around Victoria, particularly beyond Esquimalt Lagoon and out toward Metchosin, but there are sections out around Cobble Hill which are almost pure gravel with a thin overlay of topsoil. Some spots on Salt Spring Island have an oyster shell subsoil which gives rise to much the same problems as on gravel but with the additional complication of high-lime content.

The gravel gardener has at least one advantage over his loam and clay brethren—he can get cracking at the garden work ever so much earlier in the year, for the land dries out and becomes workable much more quickly.

No puddles lie in winter to drown his perennial plants and over-wintering vegetables. It is when summer comes that his troubles really start. Water goes through the soil like a sieve. In a short time the ground becomes parched and arid and the plants which need a normal amount of moisture—roses, delphiniums, phlox, raspberries, rhubarb—show signs of distress and never grow as well as they should. All kinds of queer nutritional disorders show up—not because of any lack of nutrients in the soil, for gravel is often quite rich in minerals, but for a lack of water in which the minerals can be taken up by the plant.

The only real remedy here is to keep digging in every scrap of organic material you can grow, salvage, buy or scrounge. All is grist to your mill—leaves, manure, straw, sod, lawn mowings, kitchen wastes, sawdust, peat moss and specially grown crops of green manure. It is a slow business but this spongy, bulky material will in time alter the whole structure of the soil, making it more moisture-retentive and fertile. Eventually, you will have an excellent growing medium, for the combination of organic-rich loam over gravel is pretty hard to beat.

In the meantime, though, you still want to grow something and it is best to concentrate on those subjects that appreciate good drainage, warm soil and can get along without much moisture.

Anyone who has ever seen wall-flowers growing in the chinks of a wall will realize that this flower can get along with practically no soil at all and is therefore an ideal candidate for gravelly-ground. Self-sown snapdragons also are often seen growing perfectly happily in ancient English walls and these also will help brighten the gravelly garden. The California poppy—I have to get out the plant dictionary before I can spell eschscholzia—blooms far more freely on parched, arid land than on good loam soil.

Gorse, cistus, helianthemum and broom all do well on gravel and the Spanish broom in particular can be a thing of beauty where water is scarce.

Hollywood Today

By Sheila Graham

'Lolita' for Children Only?

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—There is a growing movement in England to ban "Lolita" from British screens. Various committees believe this story of a middle-aged man, played by James Mason, and his romance with a 12-year-old girl, could provoke similar real-life incidents.

Films and TV get more and more suggestive and violent. Even Walt Disney's "Nikki, Wild Dog of the North" features fierce fighting with adults using their brogan feet for a murderous battle, and dogs and animals tearing into each other. "Lolita" was made for an adult audience. Walt's picture is intended more for children. Perhaps the labels should be switched. Children wouldn't understand "Lolita." But they might get a nightmare from "Nikki," which I saw—and enjoyed, except for the dog fight.

Cary Grant, no less, will help Doris Day buy her dresses for their movie, "A Touch of Mink," from wholesale houses in New York. . . . Susan Hayward optioned an original story, "The Pressure Group," by James Durne, and is talking to Dean Martin to repeat as her co-star. They teamed recently for "Ada" at Metro.

Robert Ryan told them in London that he is 50 years old and that he was paid $50,000 for one week's work in "King of Kings," in which Robert played John the Baptist. I wish I had been present when the Spanish customs people had Ryan open the box he was carrying containing a copy of his head—custom-made in London for his role.

Veteran Sophie Tucker told them in London that, having passed her 73rd birthday, she will forget future birth anniversaries. Soph, hale and hearty and in good voice, is overseeing the writing of her life story.

Brigitte Bardot uses the Noel Coward title, "Private Lives," for her new movie in Europe. But over here, it will be known as "The Terrible Lover." Strangely enough, every top French actor is scrambling for the role.

Fiery brunette Anna Magnani dyes for her art—she's a blonde in "The Passionate Thief." I've seen a photo of Anna as a blonde. She looked better as a brunette. . . . Janis Paige's turn-down of the Lucille Ball role in "Wildcat" on Broadway was because she would not be through until mid-July in her role with Bob Hope and Lana Turner at Metro. Plus the fact she will be playing Adelaide in "Guys and Dolls" for six weeks in Dallas, and Nellie Forbush, the role immortalized by Mary Martin in "South Pacific" in Washington, D.C.

Composers Defy Reds

Blue Moon Again?

By ROBERT MUSKEL

LONDON (UPI)—This is the dramatic story of an industry that is fighting back. On Sept. 13, 1959, it suffered a grievous and unexpected blow. Soviet Russia, in a surprise move, all but wiped out one of its most valuable assets.

But Tin Pan Alley was determined not to give up the moon to the Kremlin without a struggle. And yesterday a music publisher announced he would plug a romantic song about the moon for the first time since the Soviet Lunik.

"A lot of people felt the Russian rocket destroyed the moon as a symbol of romance," said publisher David Platz. "They said it was hard to be romantic about a place that had bits of Russian metal scattered around."

"I used to get a couple of 'moon' songs from composers every fortnight or so. But one of my writers said it was just like Moscow to steal away his best rhyme for 'June.' And he claimed its mystery, its allure, its divine influence on love had vanished with the direct impact of the space age."

So the flow of moon songs dried up and composers used the stars when they needed heavenly symbols of romance on the theory they, at least, were safely out of the way of Russian interference for the next few years.

"But recently I was played a romantic song about the moon that I liked," Platz said. "I'm not revealing the title for the moment till the recordings are released. But it's a good old schmaltzy moon song and I think it could be a hit."

The news of Platz' courageous enterprise was greeted with admiration by Paddy Roberts, chairman of the Songwriters' Guild of Britain.

"Frankly," he said, "I, too, was worried about losing the moon since you can hardly wax ecstatic about it if humans are crawling all over the place."

"But, darn it, the place belongs to us songwriters—just like roses, Paris, home, mother and love. We have been making a good living out of it for generations. Platz has shown us that we gave up too soon."

Burr Elected Again

TV Awards Hard to Pin

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—Raymond Burr's favorite TV special went on a cheerful carousel ride Tuesday night before getting around again to handing him the brass ring as "favorite male performer."

The second annual "TV Guide Award Show" on NBC-TV consisted chiefly of sponge-wrapped comedy sketches which prodded such institutions as TV ratings, commercials, loud music, "idiot cards," agents, violence and carbon copy scripts.

Jackie Cooper and Nanette Fabray were the amiable, capable stars and Efrem Zimbalist displayed charm and good sportsmanship as the host. The sportsmanship came when Efrem was called upon to needle his meat ticket, Warner Bros' TV series 77 Sunset Strip.

The sketches all began crisply but tended to stay on for a few too many beats. Exceptions: Cooper as a double-dealing agent and an orchestra leader, Miss Fabray as a singer whose house of cue-cards came tumbling down in the middle of her big number.

The eight award categories that finished up the hour were evenly divided. Four awards went to shows that were voted "best" in their respective fields and four awards went to "favorite" performers and programs. There's a difference and it makes the whole thing hard to pin down. Anyhow, readers of TV Guide voted Burr their "favorite male performer" this year. Last year he was voted "most popular male personality."

Burr's show, "Perry Mason," repeated as "favorite series," other winners were "Andy Griffith" a "favorite new series," Mitch Miller's Sing Along as "best single musical," "Macbeth" as "best single dramatic program" and NBC-TV won awards for its election night coverage and Huntley-Brinkley newscasts.

The last award, and the one that made the most sense to me, went to Carol Burnett as "favorite female performer." She's also the best.

Watched some Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society members taping greetings to ailing Jack Dunbar in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

A frequent visitor to the Colony, Jack was taken ill some weeks ago but seems to be coming out of the woods.

On a more cheerful note, it was a privilege to meet old company executive John Larrett who was in town for a while on his way back to England for a holiday.

Stationed in Japan for the last two years, John headed for a sizzling sirlin like a homing pigeon. "Been thinking about this for months," he said, between mouthfuls.

Overheard Ray and Pam Clarke discussing landscaping of all things.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal majority in the Senate

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREIN, the all-time (non-add) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not stain. Checks "plate odor breath." Get FASTEREIN at drug counters everywhere. Adv.

So easy to apply in the handy "stick" form and I know I can count on Fresh for day-long protection. Designed specially to please us women, Fresh is so gentle—has no harsh irritant to normal skin and it won't harm or stain clothes. Yet Fresh is completely effective because it's a long-lasting anti-permpant. Nothing keeps you fresher than Fresh—all three kinds—the smooth cream, the exclusive up-side-down roll-on and the stick. No matter which you prefer, you can always count on Fresh!

Wednesday approved an amendment deleting a key point from the government's controversial tariff bill—arbitration powers permitting the revenue minister to make certain tariff decisions without the right of appeal. The amendment, which grew out of a committee study last week, passed 37 to 21. The amended bill then was given third reading on an unrecorded voice vote. It now goes back to the Commons for acceptance or rejection.

Last year when the Senate amended a constitutional amendment dealing with judges' retirement at 75, the government accepted the views of the senators, changed the bill accordingly and submitted it to the Commons, where it was passed.

Now available The amendment says the minister's decisions may be appealed to the Tariff Board with no further appeal to Exchequer Court or the Supreme Court of Canada as is now available.

It also acts out that such appeals must be heard within 60 days.

The original bill broadened the definition of imports considered to be of a class or kind produced in Canada. On many imports, especially machinery, higher tariff rates apply to goods in this class.

ATHENS (Reuters)—A Chinese professor who has been granted political asylum in Greece said that Communist China believes that a war between East and West is inevitable and is preparing for it.

Professor Wang Min Chuan told a press conference here:

"I refuse to return to Peking because I do not agree with the line of the Chinese Communists. I prefer the line adopted by Soviet Russia, seeking co-existence."

Wang has been head of the Chinese department in the Higher Institute of Foreign Languages at Baghdad, Iraq, for two years. He was sent there under a program of cultural exchanges between Communist China and Iraq.

'Nip Delinquents in the Bud'

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said yesterday he was in "complete agreement" with a Greater Victoria welfare council report urging preventive treatment for potential juvenile delinquents at the elementary school age level.

The report, compiled from a 10-month study in this area, has not yet been circulated among municipal councils. But the reeve strongly favored one main recommendation which would "nip in the bud" potential delinquency problems.

He said he had long advocated psychological and psychiatric treatment for youngsters whose behavior patterns indicated a future problem.

"I made my views known two years ago to Attorney-General Bonner. He told me such a program would have to be instituted by the municipalities."

But I feel the provincial government, by undertaking to provide such care before the problem develops, would save itself considerable money," said the reeve.

Ottawa Calls Price Probes

OTTAWA (CP) — Public hearings will be held under federal jurisdiction into prices of drugs and into the distribution and sale of automobile oils, greases and other accessories, Justice Minister Fulton announced yesterday in the Commons.

The hearings will be held in connection with inquiries into the two matters under the Combines Investigation Act.

Mr. Fulton said the public hearing in connection with the manufacture, distribution and sale of pharmaceutical drugs in Canada will open here July 4.

He said the public hearing in connection with the distribution and sale of motor oils, greases, anti-freezes and the like will open here Sept. 11.

The restrictive trade practices commission said in connection with the drug inquiry that public hearings will be held in other cities with a final hearing in October, probably in Toronto.

The commission said in a statement that it had rejected representations that hearings not be held in public.

The commission said representations may be submitted by an interested party at the public hearings on drugs.

Observatory Open Near Month's End

The Dominion Astrophysical Observatory expects to open its doors to Saturday night viewers about the end of June.

It had been the observatory's practice in the past to begin admitting the public on Saturday nights early in April.

This year, major construction work on the observatory road has delayed the opening.

Douglas Plan

Final Snag Gone

Saanich public works committee will recommend to council that a parking ban be placed on both sides of Douglas from Tolmie Avenue to the Douglas Street intersection with the Island Highway.

Final approval of the move by council Monday would remove the last obstacle delaying the start of a $180,000 beautification project.

SIX LANES
By this and a similar action taken by city council this week, Douglas Street north of Fountain Circle will automatically be increased to six lanes of traffic and tree boulevards will be installed along both sides.

Coun. Leslie Pasmore, chairman of public works in Saanich, said that while he considered the parking ban unnecessary, the committee did not wish to hinder the project in any way.

UNTIL
The Capital Improvement District Commission last week told Victoria and Saanich its members were concerned over inaction on groundwork for the scheme and gave the two municipalities until today to approve it.

A letter sent to the city indicated the $180,000 provincial grant might be withdrawn if action was not forthcoming.

Aviary Aids Ailing

Birds Delight Veterans

By EDMUND COSGROVE

Eighteen little birds filled their lungs and screeched while veterans of Ortona, Hong Kong and Vimy Ridge listened in rapture.

The birds—budgies, canaries and a couple of haughty cockatoos—were doing their bit to lighten the convalescent hours of ailing ex-servicemen at the Veterans' Hospital.

NOT FOR MONTHS

"And they've worked wonders on morale," said a senior hospital official. "I have seen men come down here to the main floor to see the birds who haven't left their wards for months."

The attraction is a newly-built, green-painted aviary whose present population will soon be increased to 37 birds of eight different varieties.

REAL MAGNET

The aviary—brain-child of ambulance driver Lionel Speller—proved an irresistible magnet to patients, personnel and visitors alike when it was officially opened yesterday. "It has been my hobby since I was 15 and I have long thought an aviary here at the hospital would help to keep the fellows happy," said Mr. Speller.

His suggestion was approved by medical superintendent Dr. Charles Watson.

City firms contributed material and hospital patient Ernest Despins, a carpenter by trade, volunteered his skill in building the aviary. Firemen

Avenue. Her hobbies are fishing, swimming and sewing. Philip E. Milson getting a perfect 29-hand in a cribbage game with Oliver Jenkinson. Norm Hansen riding along Hillside on his police motorcycle. Gary Lewis talking about slot machines. Jack Lindsay and wife, Nora, making a date to visit Langford Lake. Roy Van Metro making a hamburger for a customer. Frank Robertson providing dinner for the Jaycee "Tourists of the Week" at the Spare Rib House. Hugh Wade building a hi-fi set in his spare time.

In addition, the hillside to the east of the playing field at Dallas and Douglas will afford a good view of the ceremony for a large group of spectators.

The engagement is announced of Miss Cari Palmason and Mr. Terry Mesher. The wedding will take place in St. Luke's Anglican Church on Friday, September 15. Miss Palmason is the daughter of Mrs. T. O'D. Walton, 1780 Glastonbury Road, and Mr. E. H. Palmson, Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Mr. Mesher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Mesher, Little Eldon Place. Miss Palmason attended Naramata School for Girls near Penticton, Mount Douglas High School and Victoria College, and is currently studying in the technical laboratory at Vancouver General Hospital. Mr. Mesher attended Victoria High School and Victoria College and will attend University of British Columbia this fall.—(Harry Fillion photo.)

Summer Floral Setting For Tomlinson-Ball Vows

Sweet peas, rosebuds and of lace dotted with iridescent sequins and a full hooped skirt with lace insets.

She wore a regal crown of seed pearls and rhinestones, from which misted a veil of silk illusion. Her bouquet was of red rosebuds and white stephanotis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Ball, 54 Maddock Avenue West.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Brian Sedgman and bridesmaids Miss Joan Stagg of Princeton, B.C. and Miss Joan Ball, sister of the bride, were gowned in white tulle and Chantilly lace fashioned with a basque bodice with cap sleeves, scalloped V neckline magenta flowers. Mrs. Sedgman wore a white flower hat, and Misses Stagg and Ball wore whimsy hats. All carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tomlinson, 2604 Richmond Avenue, had Mr. Ronald C. Tomlinson as best man. Ushering guests to pews were Mr. Pat Graham and Mr. Robert Haire.

A reception followed in the Wallace Room, Holyrood House, where the newlyweds cut a three-tier cake which centred the main table. Mr. Frank Hurley proposed the toast to the bride.

The bride's going-away ensemble was a stroller suit in orchid and white, with a silk rose hat and corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson are at present honeymooning in British Columbia's interior and will return to make their home in Victoria.

Berry Tones and Greens Rate High for Autumn Fashions

By EDNA BLANEY
TORONTO (CP)—Magenta and related berry tones and bright greens were predicted Monday as the top fashion colors for fall and winter.

Vivian Wilcox, fashion editor for Style and Chatelaine magazines, told buyers here for the garment salesmen Ontario market that the greens will not be the subdued shades of past season but bright emerald and Kelly green and will be frequently shown with blue.

Bright blue, burnt orange, gold and spicy brown will also appear in fall and winter fashions.

Dresses will be relaxed, many with bloused bodices. "The little-nothing dress—the Jackie Kennedy influence—is still very much with us," Miss Wilcox said.

Skirts offer more variety with some pleated, others full and still others straight.

"Coats are moving closer to the body but many have pleats or rippling back fullness to give them beline movement," Miss Wilcox said. Lowered waistlines are indicated with well seaming and some fall into a pleated flare from the belt.

Coats have either no collars or collars away from the neck and are frequently trimmed with a scarf of beaver, mink or lamb.

COURT CIRCULAR

Buckingham Palace,
June 10.
Her Majesty was present at The Queen's Birthday Parade on the Horse Guards Parade this morning.

The Queen was accompanied by The Duke of Edinburgh
(Colonel, Welsh Guards) and
The Duke of Gloucester
(Colonel, Scots Guards).

The Troops on Parade under the command of Colonel the Earl Cathcart, Scots Guards (Field Officer in Brigade Waiting), received The Queen with a Royal Salute.

Queen Elizabeth The Queen
Mother, accompanied by The Princess Royal, The Duchess of Gloucester, and other Members of The Royal Family, drove to the Horse Guards and witnessed The Queen's Birthday Parade.

On the conclusion of the Parade, The Queen rode back to Buckingham Palace at the head of The Queen's Guard preceded by the Mounted Band of The Life Guards, a Sovereign's Escort of the Household Cavalry, with Standard, under the command of Major R. I. Ferguson, The Life Guards, and the Massed Bands of the Brigade of Guards.

On arrival at Buckingham Palace, The Queen's Guard entered the Forecourt and formed up opposite the Old Guard, the remaining Guards marching past Her Majesty.

A Royal Salute was given as The Queen's Procession passed between the Old and New Guard in the Forecourt of the Palace.

Her Majesty, from Buckingham Palace, witnessed a fly-past of aircraft of Fighter Command, Royal Air Force, to mark the official celebration of The Queen's Birthday.
Royal Salutes were fired today by The King's Troop,

At Veterans' Hospital

Band Plays on Lawn at Dogwood Fete

Masses of people roamed about the lush lawns of the Veteran's Hospital yesterday afternoon for the annual Dogwood Fete and Tea.

The sun shone down on women dressed in their best spring and summer fashions, and in the background the band of the Royal Canadian Engineers played familiar numbers.

The affair was planned by the Women's Auxiliary to the Veteran's Hospital with the co-operation of the Red Cross Lodge and was held under the patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia and Mrs. G. R.
Peckers, Premier and Mrs.
W. A. C. Bennett and Mayor and Mrs. P. B. Scurrell.

Brig. J. Adam officially opened the Fete, Mrs. C. W.
McCarthy, president, introduced Brig. Adam.

Among honored guests were Acting Mayor Millard H.
Mooney and Mrs. Mooney,
Mrs. J. Adam, Mr. and Mrs.
N. Beattie, Dr. and Mrs. J. M.
Harvey, Rev. M. J. Mc-
Kendall, Rev. M. J. Mc-Namara, Dr. Olga Jardine,
Mrs. W. McConnell, Mrs. H.

Pole, Mr. and Mrs. Richard
Bower, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart
Keate, Mrs. D. C. McArthur,
Mrs. K. Seace, Mrs. C. R.
Owens, Mrs. E. R. Owens,
Mrs. W. M. Martin, Mrs. R.
Garden, Mrs. J. P. R. Carrier and Mrs. P. W. Semenchuk.

Tea was served in the garden, with Miss Ruth Cowper, hospital matron, and Mrs. D.
Swan, past president, presiding at the tea table in the Lodge.

Mrs. H. F. Jarvis was tea
convenor, assisted by Mrs. C.
Hutton, Mrs. G. Wren, Mrs.
G. R. Fleming, Mrs. A. N.
Boyd, Mrs. J. Thomson, Mrs.
H. Finbow, Mrs. A. R. Minnis,
Mrs. P. A. Hole, Mrs. J. R.
Scott and Mrs. S. G. Randall.

Before tea, guests enjoyed a showing of spring, summer and fall millinery from Miss Frith Millinery. An interesting point of the showing, which was commented by Mr. W. Sinclair, was that two of the models were related.
Mrs. E. Albutt and her granddaughter, Miss Fern Adam, were both models, with Mrs.
Phil Lee, Mrs. F. G. Homer and Mrs. R. Clarke.

Also on the afternoon's program was a show put on by

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

ITCHING
 Dear Ann Landers: I am in the eighth grade and something is bothering me. I ran for a class office last week. A close friend of mine ran against me. My friend said he didn't think it was nice for a person to vote for himself, so he voted for me. I voted for myself and I won the election by one vote.

Slip on BEHAVE and feel it work... feel the flexible palms of latex whirling away your hips... feel the magic darts scoop in your tummy without the aid of boning... feel yourself molded from high above the waist clear down the thigh. Put your figure in NEMO's hands and watch it behave!

Two section girdle with panel front and back and elastic side sections. Average and full hip fittings, sizes 26 to 34. $17.50

After the election my friend said to me, "Anyone who votes for himself is selfish, greedy and conceited." I say a person shouldn't be running for office unless he thinks he is the best candidate.

President Kennedy voted for himself. His picture was in all the papers. I figure if it's OK for him it's OK for me. How about this? SELFISH, GREEDY AND CONCEITED?

Dear B. G. and C: Grown-up politics are not the same as eighth grade politics. I'm sure Mr. Nixon knew Mr. Kennedy would not vote for him and vice versa.

If, when your opponent told you he was voting for you, did you tell him you were voting for yourself? If you did, you are in the clear and, in my opinion, not selfish, greedy or conceited.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's sister, who is a divorcee, is leaving in September for a three-month trip around the world. She wants us to keep her nine-year-old son. We have two children of our own and she feels that he would enjoy their companionship. Then too, we live across the street from the school. She wants to pay us $100 a month for the boy's room and board and we can use the money.

The problem is this: Her son has been raised with very little discipline. I am rather strict with our children and they must stay in line or else. I told my husband that if the boy stays with us he must abide by the same rules that apply to our children. He says the boy isn't ours and we have no right to insist on it. What do you say? FACTS FIRST

Dear First: I agree with you and I hope you will establish the ground rules with both the boy and his mother in advance. Two sets of standards for three children would be chaos unleashed. Unless you make it clear that the boy is to be treated like a member of your own family, you are inviting much more than $300 worth of trouble.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send to ANN LANDERS, Box 100, Victoria, B.C. V8W 2Y1. Enclose $1.00 or request $5.00 refund in cash and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Anne Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them in by air or by registered mail. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Long-Time Administrator Leaving Gorge Hospital

Mrs. Florence E. Mutrie is due to retire at the end of this month as administrator at the Gorge Road Hospital, a post she has held for the past seven years.

The announcement was made last night by Mrs. C. C. Warren, chairman of the board, who paid tribute to Mrs. Mutrie as a dedicated worker "who has laid the foundation of our rehabilitation program."

The hospital board of directors presented a set of luggage to the retiring administrator at a smorgasbord supper served in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nimmo, 3006 Leigh Road. No replacement was named.

Mrs. Mutrie said the past eight years at Gorge Road Hospital, one as secretary of the board before she became administrator, have been exceedingly happy ones. She has high hopes for the success of the rehabilitation plan, the first of its kind in all Canada.

Before coming to the hospital, Mrs. Mutrie was for eight years welfare administrator for Victoria and for 13 years before that served as assistant to the welfare administrator in the city.

Mrs. Mutrie was born in Victoria and received her early education in local schools. She attended university in Washington to study social work and also was a student at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto.

She will continue to make her home in Victoria and expects to travel a good deal.

Salvation Army Drive Winds Up Next Week

A dinner meeting June 23 will officially wind up the Salvation Army's Maison Sun set Lodge-Red Shield drive for $245,000.

The meeting will include final reports of campaign committee chairmen. It will be held at the Salvation Army Citadel.

Meanwhile, a radio auction has enriched the drive by $1,100.

The radio show, which featured Fred Usher and his Hometowners, Al Smith and Jack Lanaghan, broadcast music of every taste for three hours over CJVI.

Listeners were invited to phone in the station with their pledges and special requests.

"It started pretty slow," said a drive spokesman, "but I guess the reason was everyone was still out in their gardens. It really lived up later and by the time we hit sign-off time we had reached the $1,000 quota."

One donor waited until the next day to make his contribution. Then he walked into campaign headquarters and signed over his old-age pension cheque—the first one he had received.

Co-operation the Key

New Welfare Official Already in High Gear

Co-operation among all of the many agencies in the field, says the new executive director of Victoria's Community Welfare Council, is the key to a vital, efficient and complete welfare service.

Jack Anguish, former executive director of United Community Services in London, Ont., is a no-nonsense type of man who stepped into his job this week and already has his office in high gear.

"The biggest job we have to do—and the most important—is to establish smooth co-ordination among all our welfare agencies," he said. "Co-ordination means economy of motion, and this means speed as well as a saving of money."

Today will be a big day for Mr. Anguish. This is the day he meets his all-volunteer executive, and he's looking forward to it.

THE BEST TYPE

A volunteer executive means an executive made up of sincere, enthusiastic, dedicated people, he said, the best type of organization.

Will Mr. Anguish act as part-time executive director of Greater Victoria Community Chest?

The answer isn't clear. At the very least, he will probably act in an advisory capacity to the Chest's budget committee.

Too Many Accidents

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Indian health services section of the department of health and welfare has set up a special committee to investigate an unusual proneness to accidents among B.C. Indians.

A spokesman for the service said statistics show it is four times as likely that an Indian will die accidentally than it is for anyone else. Accidents are the largest single killer among Indians.

Of 413 Indians who died in B.C. last year, 88 did so by accident.

Twenty-four died in traffic accidents, 17 by burning, 15 by drowning, five on railway tracks, five by alcohol poisoning, four by fatal falls, three in logging accidents and three from gunshot wounds, two by poisoning, two by asphyxiation and one from exposure.

The Indian Affairs Department, the B.C. Safety Council and the Native Brotherhood have been invited to send delegates to the special committee, which will study the reason for accident-proneness and means of combating it.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

In earlier columns on education, I wrote about two basic rules—first, be sure to choose the academic curriculum in high school; second, always pick the best teachers you can get.

Now here is my Rule No. 3 for getting a good education—be sure to take unrequired courses in "odd" subjects.

What I mean is this. In the academic curriculum in high school, as well as in the college curriculum, there are a large number of courses every one has to take. Often the student has very little choice as to the courses he can take beyond that required minimum.

This makes it all the more important that he or she should spend some time on subjects that are a little off the beaten track and will acquaint them with things and ideas well beyond the standard course of study.

Make It a Rule

If I were going to school today, I'd make it a rule to take at least one course each semester whose subject does not interest me.

For example, when I went to Realgymnasium in Vienna, which had a full-time required curriculum, I took some extra afternoon courses in Czech, art appreciation, economics and typing. I don't remember a single Czech word I learned but I still think it did me a world of good to get a whiff of a Slavic language totally unrelated to German, English, Latin or French.

I therefore say to any high school or college student—study the catalogue carefully and pay special attention to all the odd, unrequired courses.

Take courses in art and music, take astronomy, take courses in one or two of the more exotic languages—Russian, say, or Portuguese, or, if there is such a thing, a semester in Arabic. Take botany, African geography, abnormal psychology. Take an introductory course in law (if you're not going to study law, that is). Take history of religion, archaeology, Italian literature.

Usually courses of that sort are given because the teacher is an expert in that special subject and wants to teach it. You're therefore apt to get much better instruction than in the big, required courses given by bored teachers to bored students. Classes are small and you get more individual attention and much more fun.

Dream Trip for Two

Holiday
Here
All Paid

Two Tacoma, Wash., school teachers are enjoying a 10-day dream holiday on Vancouver Island starting this week—and all the expenses are paid.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Moon, who won the trip on a Tacoma television show, are doing the town under the guidance of Earl C. Pollock, Vancouver Island representative for the B.C. Toll Authority's ferry system which was one of the sponsors of the contest.

TOO GOOD

Mrs. Moon says the trip so far has been something straight from the pages of a story book. "It was too good to believe, when I heard we won it," she said, "and it's still too good to believe."

JOKE FEARED

Mr. Moon, on the other hand, admits that he just didn't believe it—period. Until he and his wife were actually on the way he had trouble believing the whole thing wasn't just a joke.

"So many of these shows are as crooked as a hog's leg it's a treat to find one that's honest," he said.

HOTEL HAY

"Look out," said Mrs. Moon, "they'll pull that."

"Let 'em," laughed Mr. Moon.

After three days at the Empress Hotel, the couple moves over to the Prince Charles Hotel for another three days.

Next, it's a day at Island Hall, Hotel at Parksville, then three final days at Painter's Lodge, Campbell River.

As for next year's holidays, the Moon family isn't sure—but they're both thinking about Vancouver Island already.

TV TALK

Strange press release from Channel 12 announces that "The Heiress," by Ruth and Augustus Goetz will be rebroadcast Sunday at 9 p.m.

It's strange because nowhere does it mention Henry James, who wrote the story. He called it Washington Square.

But it's still a good story and the performance, by Julie Harris and Farley Granger, are well worth seeing.

"SEAFRONTAGE"

A superb ever-changing panoramic view of Juan de Fuca Strait, world and coastal shipping, against a background of evergreen peaks. The authentic cedar log residence, approx. 1,500 square feet, was built by craftsmen to exacting standards, and is probably one of the finest homes of its type. The stone fireplace, large plate glass windows, modern equipped kitchen, high cement basement with oil heating unit, all indicate no expense was spared in creating this spacious and comfortable residence. The setting of 3 1/2 acres of virgin timber and landscaped lawns enhances the appearance of this beautiful home. Now, original owner's planning residence in Europe gives you this opportunity to purchase this seafrost estate property at less than replacement cost, at a price of $31,500.

May be viewed by appointment only through Exclusive Realtors.

Duncan Heir to Ruins

Duncan city fathers have advised Victoria they are prepared to take over administration of the capital city's affairs in the event that the sitting council is wiped out in a nuclear attack.

In return, Victoria city council will help get Duncan back on its feet if that city cops a bomb.

Victoria council suggested the reciprocal agreement in compliance with a provincial request that municipal governments name slates of heirs in case of major disasters. City council reasoned that it would be best to name an absentee slate because local alternates would probably meet the same fate as the sitting councillors.

Award Leaders Acclaimed

Shrum Retires June 30

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dean Gordon M. Shrum will retire June 30 as head of the physics department and faculty of graduate studies at the University of British Columbia, it was announced Wednesday. Dean Shrum came to UBC from the University of Toronto in 1925 and was appointed head of the extension department and commanding officer of the Royal Officers' Training Corps contingent in 1937. The following year he became head of the physics department. In 1956 he became dean of the faculty of graduate studies and last year was appointed chairman of the new B.C. Energy Board. Prof. F. H. Soward is the new dean of graduate studies.

Festival's Regret

If Only Music Were Baseball...

Too bad the Victoria Music Festival isn't in the American League—it would have rated more newspaper space in the past.

So says Dr. Henrietta Anderson, public relations chairman for the festival.

"Editors are seldom musically inclined—generally sports fans," said Dr. Anderson, recalling past experience in planting festival items in local news media.

"The fact that the festival now gets the amount of press coverage it has this past year shows it has come into its own and is recognized as an event worth reporting," she told the annual meeting of the society.

Newspaper coverage of festival activities was praised by the chairman, who noted that the press, of all news and communications media, gave the festival "free advertising."

ESSENTIAL ROLE

Society president Harry Bixby, re-elected to his third term at the meeting, noted the festival served an essential role in the community in increasing active participation in cultural activities.

Dr. J. F. K. English was re-elected treasurer and in his annual report he said the society was "in very good shape."

Mushroom Grower Dies at 72

Well-known Saanich mushroom grower, Andrew John Wilson, 72 died suddenly at Veterans' Hospital yesterday. Born in 1889 in London England he was a mushroom grower in Burlington, Ont., until 1944 when he retired and came to Victoria.

He was the owner of Wilson's mushroom farm on Old West Road.

A veteran of the First World War, he served with the First Battalion of the Canadian Cyclists in the front lines. He is survived by his widow, May, one son, Victor, and daughter, Mrs. R. J. (Irene) Carroll, both of Victoria, and five grandchildren.

'Too Big, Remote'

Narcotics Centre Plan Rapped by Health Group

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Mental Health Association Wednesday criticized the federal government's plan to build a large maximum-security narcotics treatment centre in British Columbia.

At a press conference, association director Dr. John Griffin complained at the size and remoteness of the proposed centre.

He said the $5,000,000 centre, to be built east of Haney, would accommodate 500 persons.

He suggested that 50 or 100-bed centres be built in several municipalities across the country instead of the one in B.C.

Visit by Vaniers Holiday for North

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (CP) — This northwestern Saskatchewan mining town ob-

Society Sets Camp Dates

Dates have been set for the Family and Children's Service Sunshine Camp operated by the Children's Aid Society of Victoria and sponsored by the Community Chest.

Old-age pensioners, July 1 to July 8; family camp, July 10 to July 18; CNIB, July 20 to July 28; family camp, July 31 to August 7; girls 6-12 years, Aug. 8 to Aug. 15; family camp, Aug. 17 to Aug. 25; handicapped, Aug. 26 to Sept. 2.

Vacancies still remain for the old-age pensioners' camp and for the girls' camp.

"Yes," they shrieked, happy to be out of classrooms in the 70-degree weather.

"Today won't count," shouted the governor-general. "I'm going to give you another holiday whether you want it or not."

Water Line Starts Today

Construction of the new Central Saanich water system begins today around 10.30 a.m. First phase of the work will be started on Keating Cross Road between Butler Bros. and the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association processing shed.

BANK OF CANADA OVERHAUL
URGED BY SENATE PROBERS

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate manpower committee Wednesday recommended an overhaul of the Bank of Canada and closer integration of its policies with those of the finance department.

It said finance policies should be more settled and include tax incentives for business expansion, especially into the export market.

It also urged more consultation between labor and management on economic trends, closer co-ordination of federal, provincial and municipal spending on public works, and a drive to boost technical training and keep students in school longer.

The Unemployment Insurance Act should be studied for revision and the National Employment Service made a more effective body to keep an eye on business trends.

The committee, composed of 17 Conservative and 16 Liberal senators, began its work last November and ended its hearings late in April with Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada as its star witness.

Neither the bank nor its controversial governor were mentioned specifically in the committee's conclusions and recommendations, but the report said lack of co-ordination between fiscal and monetary policy has been an important weakness in Canada.

Recession at an End

Fiscal policy is the responsibility of Finance Minister Fleming and is exercised through tax and tariff rates and balanced or deficit budgeting. Monetary control is exercised by the Bank of Canada to maintain the integrity of currency.

The committee, headed by Senator Leon Mehot (PC—Quebec), who presented its report to the Upper House, said it appeared that the recession which has been troubling Canadian business has come to an end.

The upturn will be strengthened by revival of business activity in the United States, the report said, but this must be facilitated and reinforced by "appropriate monetary and fiscal policies."

"In particular, there is need for a suitable increase in the availability of credit to encourage an expanding scale of business operations," the report said.

Co-ordination Lacking

"This does not mean a massive infusion of new money which would become the basis of a future inflation, but a carefully regulated increase geared to the requirements of a growing volume of output and employment."

"Monetary policy should be accompanied by a complementary fiscal policy which is designed to promote expansion in the critical sectors of the economy and is settled so as to remove discouraging uncertainties."

Lack of co-ordination between monetary and fiscal policy had made it difficult if not impossible to influence interest rates, money supply and capital flows in the directions which would help maintain high employment and production levels.

"The idea that monetary and fiscal policies are independently determined and can be separately pursued is incompatible with the realities of a highly complex money and exchange economy in which the operations of government play so large a part."

1,000,000 Negroes
May Be Kicked Out

CAPE TOWN (AP)—South Africa's government is considering deporting 1,000,000 "foreign" Negroes to their own countries, M. D. Dewet, minister of Bantu (Negro) administration and development, told Parliament Wednesday.

Nel said South Africa's Negroes wanted these "foreigners" deported because "many occupy good jobs while there are insufficient posts for the local Bantu."

Other Nations Join
U.K. Move Protests

LONDON (Reuters)—Opposition to Britain's possible entry into the six-nation European Common Market mounted Wednesday. (See editorial, Page 4.)

From Australia and New Zealand came warnings that some industries will be forced to the wall if Britain links up with the Common Market countries—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

PLEA TO TUC

The New Zealand Federation of Labor in a telegram urged the British Trades Union Congress to make the Opposition Labor party disavow the Conservative government from talks with the Common Market nations.

British membership in the Common Market, the federation said, would "spell the end of the Commonwealth and reduce the United Kingdom to minor status."

In Canberra, Australian political observers said British entry would spell ruin for Australian exports to Britain of dairy products, grains, meat and fruit—all major products.

Prospects for New Zealand, which relies almost entirely on dairy produce and meat exports to Britain, were said to be even worse.

Frantic Mother Watches
Island Swimmer Drown

CAMPBELL RIVER—A 12-year-old youth drowned in Echo Lake, north of here, last night while his mother shouted frantically for help from shore.

The victim was William Runacres, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Runacres of Willow Point.

Described as an average swimmer, the youth suddenly disappeared below the surface of the lake, a favorite swimming hole for Campbell River young people.

Lois Riley, 19, swam to his assistance but was pulled under by the struggling youth and had to give up the rescue attempt.

Keith McKillican put on goggles and flippers and located the body at the bottom of the lake. With the help of William Evans and Danny Willard, he brought the body to shore.

Barbara Graham, a nurse on holiday from Vancouver General Hospital, applied mouth-to-mouth respiration and later and inshore crew from Campbell river attempted resuscitation without success.

The youth was pronounced dead on arrival at Campbell River hospital. Officials said their would be an inquiry.

'Booster' Budget
Expected

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians will learn Tuesday night how the federal government plans to carry out its expansionist policy "aimed at the creation of more trade, more production, more jobs."

Finance Minister Fleming announced in the Commons Wednesday that he expects to bring down his budget for the 1961-62 fiscal year next Tuesday night. He offered the expansionist clue in telling only the government asked governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada to resign.

REASONS SEEN

The minister's remarks came as he said that Mr. Coyne advocated contrary restrictionist policies.

The Coyne episode and the four federal byelections May 28 have been advanced by some as reasons for the delay in presenting the budget. It usually is brought down around April 1.

HUGE DEFICIT

Mr. Fleming, finance minister since the Conservatives took office in mid-1957, has yet to come up with a budget surplus.

Earlier this year the Canadian Tax Foundation forecast a budget deficit of $700,000,000 for the 1961-62 fiscal year, which would surpass the record of $609,000,000 in 1958-59.

RECORD SPENDING

For the current fiscal year started April 1, the government already has announced expenditures of all-time record proportions. Mr. Fleming has said additional expenditures will be announced before the end of the parliamentary session.

ELECTION GUESSES

Much guessing about the timing of the next general election—which Prime Minister Diefenbaker has said is possible for this year but not probable—is associated with the budget.

Speculation has been that there is little likelihood of personal income tax relief.

"ALMOST CERTAIN"

On the other hand, tax incentives for industry to encourage industrial expansion, boost production and give a shot in the arm to export sales have been reported as "almost certain."

Edmund Morris, parliamen-

OTTAWA (UPI)—Bank of Canada governor James E. Coyne will be fired from his $50,000 a year job shortly on grounds he can't get along with the federal government.

In the final and crushing blow of the Coyne crisis, Finance Minister Donald Fleming told Parliament yesterday it would be asked to pass the necessary legislation to remove the 51-year old central bank chief from his post.

OPPOSITION SEEN

The announcement was the government's answer to Coyne's open defiance Tuesday of a demand that he resign immediately.

Fleming said flatly that Coyne "does not possess the confidence of the government."

"The main reason was that the government was convinced that Mr. Coyne's continuation in office as governor of the Bank of Canada would stand in the way of implementation of comprehensive, sound and responsible program designed to raise the levels of employment and production in Canada," Fleming said.

IMPLICATIONS CLEAR

The finance minister did not spell out the firing in precise terms, but the implications were clear in a statement that said:

"In the light of the foregoing, I can now inform the House that the government will shortly invite Parliament to take the appropriate legislative action to meet the needs of the situation."

HARSH INDICTMENT

Fleming's statement was as harsh an indictment of a public servant as had been heard in some time.

It said Coyne's tenure as governor had been one of "steady and deplorable deterioration" in the bank's public relations. And it accused the governor of "ill-considered" actions, of making policy statements "with strong political overtones" outside his field, and of a "rigid and doctrinaire expression of views often and openly incompatible with government policy."

"NEED GREAT"

Fleming said the need for co-operation between the bank and the government "has never been greater."

"It has become impossible to expect this kind of co-operation as long as the present governor remains in office," he said.

Fleming Advises Coyne

(By CP and UPI)

OTTAWA—Finance Minister Donald Fleming said yesterday he hoped Bank of Canada governor James Coyne would not try to make a martyr out of himself.

He told the House of Commons the mantle of martyrdom was incompatible with a $25,000 a year pension.

This was a reference to a decision by the board of directors Feb. 15, 1960, to increase Mr. Coyne's pension from $12,000 per year to $25,000. Fleming said he told Mr. Coyne May 30 the increase was of "doubtful validity" because the government had not been told at the time.

Opposition leader Lester Pearson said Mr. Fleming had given the "minister" impression that Mr. Coyne had taken action to increase his own pension.

Yet the government had taken months to decide that this action didn't meet Mr. Fleming's high moral standards.

PROOF URGED

He said the Opposition will refuse to join the government in making Mr. Coyne a "scapegoat" in voting for his ouster unless the government can prove before a Parliamentary committee that Mr. Coyne thwarted its financial policies.

He accused Mr. Fleming of refusing to "see or talk" to Mr. Coyne after demanding his resignation May 30.

"This whole sorry business is depressing evidence of the unprecedented breakdown of relations between the governor of the bank and the minister of finance," he said.

SMEAR CHARGED

Mr. Erhard Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) said he regretted the Coyne controversy "has to be part of an election campaign."

The CCF spokesman said Mr. Coyne's name was being smeared "by a government so ruthlessly desperate to win an election" that it felt it had to use such tactics.

The government had made a bad miscalculation when it asked Mr. Coyne to resign.

"It did not expect the governor to have the guts that history has shown him to have."

He said the CCF doesn't defend the $25,000 pension. But he suggested the government had told Mr. Coyne "to be a nice little boy and sneak away quietly" and that the government wouldn't reverse the pension increase.

Going Back To UBC
Says Audain

JACKSON, Minn. (AP)—Michael Audain, 23-year-old Victorian who joined U.S. Freedom Riders in their battle of Mississippi segregation laws, said Wednesday he hopes to return to UBC on his release from jail in the fall.

"College is more important to me than another sentence," he said. He has served eight days of a minimum two-month jail term.

Census Still Going
Taker's Still Stops

OTTAWA (CP)—Into a deadpan Commons Wednesday was tossed the story of the census commissioner's still.

Edmund Morris, parliamentary secretary to Trade Minister Hees, disclosed that the government June 8 suspended Julien Guy Sasseville as census commissioner for Quebec's St. James County.

REASON WHY

The reason, he was convicted of running an illegal distillery.

J. P. Deschatelets (L—Montreal—Maisonnette-Rosemont) asked if Mr. Sasseville had been interviewed as to "fact and judgment" when he was appointed—and whether it was known at the time the RCMP had wanted him since last Oct. 24.

NOT AVAILABLE

Mr. Morris said the interview showed Mr. Sasseville to be of above-average intelligence—"as was borne out by the activity in which he was engaged," Mr. Sasseville was suspended, he said, for "non-availability to the public."

Observatory Open Near Month's End

The Dominion Astrophysical Observatory expects to open its doors to Saturday night viewers about the end of June.

It had been the observatory's practice in the past to begin admitting the public on Saturday nights early in April.

This year, major construction work on the observatory road has delayed the opening.

Douglas Plan

Final Snag Gone

Saanich public works committee will recommend to council that a parking ban be placed on both sides of Douglas from Tolmie Avenue to the Douglas Street intersection with the Island Highway.

Final approval of the move by council Monday would remove the last obstacle delaying the start of a $180,000 beautification project.

SIX LANES

By this and a similar action taken by city council this week, Douglas Street north of Fountain Circle will automatically be increased to six lanes of traffic and tree-lined boulevards will be installed along both sides.

Coun. Leslie Paasmore, chairman of public works in Saanich, said that while he considered the parking ban unnecessary, the committee did not wish to hinder the project in any way.

UNTIL

The Capital Improvement District Commission last week told Victoria and Saanich its members were concerned over inaction on groundwork for the scheme and gave the two municipalities until today to approve it.

A letter sent to the city indicated the $180,000 provincial grant might be withdrawn if action was not forthcoming.

Collarbone Broken In Park Accident

Jack Harper, 12, of 3131 Mars Street, was treated for a broken collarbone at St. Joseph's Hospital after a mishap at Topex Park.

'Is Mr. Kent Afraid?'

Give Voters Their Say on Parking Edgelow Challenges Chamber Head

Merchants Hold Key If New Scheme Fails

By TERRY HAMMOND

Primary responsibility for provision of off-street parking falls squarely on the shoulders of downtown merchants, city works chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said yesterday.

His statement came in a hard-hitting reply to Victoria Chamber of Commerce president M. Aubrey Kent who accused the public works chairman of "throwing a monkey wrench" into the city's lease-purchase proposal for two parking garages.

Mr. Kent said that in insisting on an area vote requiring merchants to indemnify the facilities against financial loss Ald. Edgelow is "going out of his way to make things difficult."

"Is Mr. Kent afraid of an area vote?" Ald. Edgelow asked. "Is he afraid that the very people who stand to benefit most from off-street parking will not support it?"

"Or does he just want off-street parking handed to the merchants on a silver platter?"

He said he is "unalterably opposed" to a 20-year lease-purchase contract for parking garages by means of special provincial legislation to circumvent the need for a vote by the electors.

"I will not be a party to any scheme designed to disenfranchise the owner-electors of Victoria," said the alderman.

Democracy Infringed

"If in opposing what would be a serious infringement on one of the fundamentals of democracy I am throwing a monkey wrench, then all I can say to Mr. Kent is that I am going to go right on throwing it."

"I want to see off-street parking just as badly as the president of the Chamber of Commerce, but I know, and he does not appear to know, this city cannot afford a second parking fiasco like the last one. If this latest move fails we are through and it will be up to the merchants alone to solve the problem."

He said the lease-purchase plan "must be above reproach."

"The fact is that if the city attempts to seek special legislation to circumvent a vote it will have to wait until next spring and there is a good chance the legislation will not be passed."

"By the area vote method we can go ahead right now and have the parking garages in operation before the end of this year, provided the downtown merchants and property owners get behind it."

Ald. Edgelow said he believes that if downtown merchants affirm the deal for $1,000,000 in parking facilities, the cabinet might be persuaded to pass an order-in-council enabling the city to throw its parking meter reserve fund behind the operation.

If this was the case, the fund could be used to pick up any first loss of the garages. Merchants would contribute to off-set later loss only if the fund was not adequate.

The fund is made up of all parking meter revenues above an annual grant equal to one mill (about $80,000) of tax levy.

Almost a Guarantee

"I don't think there will be any loss at all," Ald. Edgelow said. "But the mere fact that the merchants would be behind the scheme right from the outset would help to guarantee there will be no loss."

"In spite of the fact that many of our ratepayers believe we should not be in the parking business on any basis at all, we... have a plan. We are prepared to back it with the reserve fund, we are prepared to operate the garages for the merchants and all I am asking is that the merchants give it their active support."

He said such companies as Hudson's Bay and Eaton's "have shown their confidence in this downtown area by putting up big parking garages, and surely our local business community can show the same confidence."

Acting Mayor Millard Mooney said the city's first move toward securing the garages should be to seek cabinet approval of the 20-year contract immediately rather than wait for legislation.

Failing that, an area vote should be held as soon as possible, and, failing that, wait until the legislature sits.

Ald. Edgelow refused to believe the cabinet would approve the contract on its own, and said the opposition of city MLA J. Donald Smith to any legislation bypassing the voters "has thrown a new light on that course of action."

"We might very well wait eight months and find no such legislation materialized, and the time would be wasted," he said.

Broad Street

Mall Proposal Lacks Priority

GEOFFREY EDELOW
... council chilly

City works chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said yesterday the city hasn't acted on a proposal for an experimental shopping mall "because it is not a top priority project."

The mall was proposed by owners and agents representing property on both sides of Broad Street between Fort and Broughton.

Ald. Edgelow said the city's engineering department had been asked for a full report on the mall "but it was never given top priority because the department has been extremely busy for several months planning its 1961 program, preparing its budget, studying parking and doing many other things."

He said that in any case he believes the council is "somewhat chilly" toward the plan.

Glum Growers Deny Pay Low

Desperate appeal for straw-berry pickers immediately was issued yesterday by Herbert Bickford, president of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association.

"Current warm weather has brought on a real crisis as far as the crop is concerned," he said. "We need the help of anyone who can come out to get the crop in—to tide us over the period until school children are free."

These prospective workers, the growers say, are shying off in the belief they'll only make about $3 a day.

"That is a bare minimum, for a completely inexperienced picker," the growers said. Minimum scale is 60 cents a crate or four cents a pound for jam berries. Many growers are paying more to pickers who prove their worth.

Outside Nanaimo

Three Areas Study Firefighting Merger

NANAIMO—Three areas adjoining Nanaimo are contemplating merging their firefighting facilities. The Department Bay, Northfield and Wellington fire protection districts have received a preliminary report from the fire marshal's office which recommends that they merge their equipment and manpower.

It is expected that the savings effected would make it possible to employ two firemen on each of three shifts which would be augmented by the already well trained volunteer personnel.

While no decision has yet been made there has already been some preliminary discussion on the matter and this will be continued.

Around the Island

Marine Basin Plan Approved

COMOX—A marine basin and waterfront development costing in excess of $350,000 has been proposed for Comox Bay by 1962.

Ron Ellis, council chairman, said yesterday federal engineers have approved the project and will recommend it to Ottawa for inclusion in next year's estimates.

Federal funds would provide a new rock breakwater in the bay, dredging of a deepwater basin from the foreshore and at least six 750-foot floats for mooring just west of the present wharf.

Access roads and a parking causeway on a 300-foot wide fill of reclaimed waterfront would be the village's share of the project in addition to the $350,000 government expenditure. Landscaping and lighting are included in the village-designed scheme.

Commissioner Ellis said congestion of commercial fishing boats at existing floats and parking problems on the wharf made an entirely new development necessary.

DUNCAN—Directors of the Chamber of Commerce here Wednesday objected to any move by the federal fisheries department introducing a salt-water fisherman's licence.

The Qualicum Chamber of Commerce broached the matter by asking the Duncan Chamber to support its protest against the proposed licence.

Duncan directors pointed out that last April they went on record as opposing a fee for fishing in tidal waters.

At yesterday's meeting, directors reiterated their stand, and agreed to endorse the Qualicum protest.

Directors feel that any move to tax fishermen would hurt the tourist industry.

DUNCAN—Musical club members here are searching for talent for their February production of "Yeomen of the Guard."

Mrs. Anne Murray, club secretary, said, "We badly need tenors, for in this production there are 15 lead parts."

She added that rehearsals will begin Sept. 8. There will be three performances of the musical.

Mrs. Murray said Peter Yelland has been appointed musical director "but we are still looking for a drama director."

PORT ALBERNI—The ceremony of changing of the guards will be carried out by the local army cadet corp at Port Alberni city hall Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

Following mounting of the guard, the flag will be lowered in the traditional retreat ceremony.

Council has given permission for blocking traffic from Argyle Street from Fourth to Fifth Avenues for the ceremonies and Acting Mayor J. R. Dalton has consented to inspect the guards.

CHEMAINUS—New officers of the recently revived Chemainus Ratepayers Association are Earl English, president; Mrs. Marie Groner, vice-president; Dr. G. Philippon; Pat Allester; Vic Wejd. Ning Chang; Nat Hollett and Thomas Frost, directors. Next meeting will be held June 22 in the fire hall.

PARKSVILLE—Wednesday, June 21, has been set by Parksville village council as the deadline for tenders for the proposed water improvement project for Parksville. Tenders will be opened at 7:30 p.m. Estimated cost of the project is $25,000 and plans include the installation of a filter-bed pumping station at Englishman River and laying of 2,000 feet of eight-inch water main and the renewal of 2,500 feet of obsolete two-inch pipe with six-inch water mains. The new system will augment the present water supply derived from springs near the village.

PORT ALBERNI—Rites will be held in First United Church here at 2:30 p.m. Friday for Thor M. Peterson, well-known businessman of this district, who died Tuesday in West Coast General Hospital.

Mr. Peterson, born 39 years ago in Kenosha, Wis., came here 24 years ago. He was a general contractor and in later years had operated a builders' supply business in Port Alberni. Mr. Peterson was a past-president of the B.C. Contractors' Association and a member of the Elks' Lodge.

He leaves his wife, Sigurd, a son, Deane, 13; two daughters, Zo Ann, 10; and Daphne, seven, all at the family home; his father, Rev. J. J. Peterson, and a sister, Mrs. Henry Boe, Port Alberni; a brother, Eddie, Seattle.

Rev. J. D. Verkerk will conduct the service.

NORTH COWICHAN—Value of building permits issued by the municipality last month showed a $39,544 drop over the same period last year.

Permit values for May, 1960, the figure was $73,384.

Despite the decrease, the municipality is ahead on the previous five months over last year.

Total value of permits since January comes to $529,344. Last year the figure was $336,877.

PORT ALBERNI—Tom Barnett, former CCF member of the Parliament for Comox-Alberni, has suggested New Commonwealth Party as the name of the political party to be founded in Ottawa next month from a merger of the CCF and farm-labor groups.

The suggestion was endorsed Tuesday by the Comox-Alberni Federal CCF Association.

Orator's Silver Tongue Rekindles Old Desires

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

SWEET SMELL OF SUCCESS: Maybe it's the cynic in us but we were absolutely fascinated by this trade publication report of an advertising man's speech on the techniques used in creative selling...

"While weaving the fabric of his topic: 'Word Pictures in Selling,' the orator, with a silver-tongued voice which lifted one moment—dropped to a whisper the next—carried his 'pupils' into a whole new panorama of creative sales techniques," said the report.

"Words are a salesman's best and most precious tools," he said. "Use them copiously... use them prodigiously. Pluck exciting adjectives and fit them into velvet phrases which sweep the listener with you. Transport him... rekindle old desires."

"Use sparkling synonyms—use ardent for liking; gallantry for love; golden for precious; rapture for desire."

"Remember, words can change a neutral picture any way you want. One word... one word only, can change something from dull to glowing..."

"Take an apple. When a person hears the word apple, he hears a common noun. No excitement here. But add two words and give that same apple appeal. Call it a juicy delicious apple!"

This year Eric's other two contestants will both be French-speaking Jaycees and the contest is to be held in Montreal which means the judges will probably be French as well.

So Eric is planning to insert quite a bit of French in his speech—something along the line of if you can't beat 'em, join 'em.

Duncan Heir to Ruins

Duncan city fathers have advised Victoria they are prepared to take over administration of the capital city's affairs in the event that the sitting council is wiped out in a nuclear attack.

In return, Victoria city council will help get Duncan back on its feet if that city cops a bomb.

Victoria council suggested the reciprocal agreement in compliance with a provincial request that municipal governments name slates of heirs in case of major disasters.

City council reasoned that it would be best to name an absentee slate because local alternates would probably meet the same fate as the sitting councillors.

Second Sewer Vote Considered in Comox

COMOX—A public meeting of ratepayers will be held here in July to discuss feasibility of a sewer plebiscite.

A previous bylaw for $324,000 was defeated in 1958 but recent interest from the public has prompted the village council to consider a second vote.

Costs to the individual land owner are expected to be less now because of growth of the village in the last three years.

Canyon Blaze Under Control

COURTENAY—A 70-acre forest fire in the Cruikshank Canyon area, 26 miles west of here, has remained under control since Tuesday night.

No further trouble is expected unless a high wind condition develops, Crown Zellerbach officials said late yesterday.

The fire broke out Tuesday afternoon on a steep sidehill about 1,500 feet from a falling and bucking operation of the Comox Logging division of the company.

About 70 of the regular work force fought to contain the blaze that quickly spread over 30 acres. By nightfall, 70 acres were blazing but chilly temperatures helped slow any further advance.

An estimated 2,000,000 feet of timber was in the area but some of it may be salvageable, company spokesmen said.

It was the district's first forest fire of 1961.

Only 18 men were required on the scene during the night and it was not necessary to call in help from the forestry department.

Cause of the fire has not been determined but conditions were so tinder dry that friction of a log rolling on the hill could have set it off, one official said.

Three 3,000-gallon portable water tanks designed earlier this year by Comox Logging proved successful in their first workout. Two other regular tank trucks, bulldozers and creek pumps were used to control the blaze.

Other logging operations of the company were closed down Wednesday while fire-fighting equipment from all sections was moved into the fire area.

Alberni Learns Whys, Hows Of Letter Carrier Service

ALBERNI—Area supervisor Joe Ranetta of the post office department stressed at a meeting Tuesday that he was not there to sell letter carrier service to residents of the city.

"It is not the policy of the department to force any service on people who do not want it," he declared.

The meeting was chaired by Bob White, president of Alberni Voters' Association, who explained the organization's part in making funds available for a plebiscite on the issue. He told of the appointment of Edgar Rhodes as financial agent and William Johnston as returning officer for the purpose of taking the plebiscite.

The entire area of the city plus an area outside the northeast boundary would receive the letter carrier service with the exception of sections of a few blocks in the Mary-Golden Street area and on Pine and Forest Streets where group boxes would be installed. Parcel delivery would cover the entire city. There would be a downtown sub-post office and probably one or two additional sub-offices in residential areas.

Sub-post office hours would be regulated by store closing hours.

If the letter carrier service were instituted through Port Alberni post office, the area would be classed as metropolitan and the four-cent rate would apply to all letters exchanged between the various sections, including rural.

Trustee Resigns

Fulford Fights Merger Ruling

FULFORD—A. D. Dane has resigned as school trustee representing South Salt Spring Island in protest of the "dictatorial attitude of the chairman and some members of board" in ruling that the two sections of the island be amalgamated.

The board's action, he said, "ignores the fundamental and democratic rights and privileges of the electors of South Salt Spring Island."

The amalgamation ruling, he said, was made "despite protests from myself and a protest meeting attended by 33 of the electors."

Under the board's ruling, Salt Spring board representatives would be chosen at large.

At the present time, the Gulf Islands district is divided into six rural areas—North Salt Spring, South Salt Spring, Galiano, Mayne, Pender and Saturna.

OUT OF ORDER

Mr. Dane said he followed advice of the education minister in the method of personally taking the electors' protest before the board. "However, I was ruled out of order by the chairman."

The controversial amalgamation ruling was made in April at a meeting which was not attended by Mr. Dane. At a later meeting, Mr. Dane requested that the motion be rescinded but was voted down. Protest meeting and subsequent board session followed.

FAIR—OR ELSE

Fulford folk are simmering. "We like things fair and square — or else," said Mrs. J. French. "We want a ruling that is agreeable to all the voters, not just a few."

"We don't like being pushed around," said Bob Patterson, local shopkeeper and fire brigade captain, who was chairman of the protest meeting.

Overhaul Revenues Fair Group Urged

COURTENAY — Revenue sources of the Comox Valley Fair need an overhauling to offset rising costs from record growth in other aspects of its operation, the fair committee was told.

Retiring manager W. G. Lamb in his final report said a review should be made of the earning effectiveness of concessions, grandstand shows and the official raffle. Net revenues were not keeping the pace with the general growth in entries and prize payments, he said.

New fair manager Eric Chayko was authorized to complete contract arrangements with Gayland Shows for a larger midway in 1961 with a guaranteed 25 per cent higher return for the Sept. 14, 15, 16 run.

He also will seek a solution to a surplus of applications from community organizations for the available food stalls.

Holding of the annual horse show on fair Saturday was approved and arrangements will be made with the Comox Valley Riding Club to take on supervision of the event.

Mrs. W. M. McGill, chairman of the education program said present plans for the school half-holiday on Friday of the fair call for spelling bees and quizzes on history and the space age. Competition will be between individuals instead of schools.

In addition to his new post as manager of the 68th annual fair, Eric Chayko has been re-appointed manager of the curling club which also operates in the fair park.

MEND MONEY POLICY SENATE PROBE SAYS

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate manpower committee Wednesday recommended an overhaul of the Bank of Canada and closer integration of its policies with those of the finance department.

It said finance policies should be more settled and include tax incentives for business expansion, especially into the export market.

It also urged more consultation between labor and management on economic trends, closer co-ordination of federal, provincial and municipal spending on public works and a drive to boost technical training and keep students in school longer.

The Unemployment Insurance Act should be studied for revision and the National Employment Service made a more effective body to keep a system on business trends.

The committee, composed of 17 Conservative and 16 Liberal senators, began its work last November and ended its hearings late in April with Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada as its star witness.

Neither the bank nor its controversial governor were mentioned specifically in the committee's conclusions and recommendations, but the report said lack of co-ordination between fiscal and monetary policy has been an important weakness in Canada.

Recession at an End

Fiscal policy is the responsibility of Finance Minister Fleming and is exercised through tax and tariff rates and balanced or deficit budgeting. Monetary control is exercised by the Bank of Canada to maintain the integrity of currency.

The committee, headed by Senator Leon Methot (PC—Quebec), who presented its report to the Upper House, said it appeared that the recession which has been troubling Canadian business has come to an end.

The upturn will be strengthened by revival of business activity in the United States, the report said, but this must be facilitated and reinforced by "appropriate monetary and fiscal policies."

"In particular, there is need for a suitable increase in the availability of credit to encourage an expanding scale of business operations," the report said.

Co-ordination Lacking

"This does not mean a massive infusion of new money which would become the basis of a future inflation, but a carefully regulated increase geared to the requirements of a growing volume of output and employment."

"Monetary policy should be accompanied by a complementary fiscal policy which is designed to promote expansion in the critical sectors of the economy and is settled so as to remove discouraging uncertainties."

Lack of co-ordination between monetary and fiscal policy had made it difficult if not impossible to influence interest rates, money supply and capital flows in the directions which would help maintain high employment and production levels.

"The idea that monetary and fiscal policies are independently determined and can be separately pursued is incompatible with the realities of a highly complex money and exchange economy in which the operations of government play so large a part."

1,000,000 Negroes May Be Kicked Out

CAPE TOWN (AP)—South Africa's government is considering deporting 1,000,000 "foreign" Negroes to their own countries, M. D. Dewet, minister of Bantu (Negro) administration and development, told Parliament Wednesday.

Nel said South Africa's Negroes wanted these "foreigners" deported because "many occupy good jobs while there are insufficient posts for the local Bantu."

Other Nations Join U.K. Move Protests

LONDON (Reuters)—Opposition to Britain's possible entry into the six-nation European Common Market mounted Wednesday. (See editorial, Page 4.)

From Australia and New Zealand came warnings that some industries will be forced to the wall if Britain links up with the Common Market countries—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

PLEA TO TUC
The New Zealand Federation of Labor in a telegram urged the British Trades Union Congress to make the opposition Labor party dissuade the Conservative government from talks with the Common Market nations.

British membership in the Common Market, the federation said, would "spell the end of the Commonwealth and reduce the United Kingdom to minor status."

In Canberra, Australian political observers said British entry would spell ruin for

'Booster' Budget Expected

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians will learn Tuesday night how the federal government plans to carry out its expansionist policy "aimed at the creation of more trade, more production, more jobs."

Finance Minister Fleming announced in the Commons Wednesday that he expects to bring down his budget for the 1961-62 fiscal year next Tuesday night. He offered the expansionist clue in telling why the government asked Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada to resign.

REASONS SEEN
The minister's remarks came as he said that Mr. Coyne advocated contrary restrictionist policies.

The Coyne episode and the four federal by-elections May 29 have been advanced by some as reasons for the delay in presenting the budget. It usually is brought down around April 1.

HUGE DEFICIT
Mr. Fleming, finance minister since the Conservatives took office in mid-1957, has yet to come up with a budget surplus.

Earlier this year the Canadian Tax Foundation forecast a budget deficit of $700,000,000 for the 1961-62 fiscal year, which would surpass the record of $609,000,000 in 1958-59.

RECORD SPENDING
For the current fiscal year started April 1, the government already has announced expenditures of all-time record proportions. Mr. Fleming has said additional expenditures will be announced before the end of the parliamentary session.

ELECTION GUINNESS
Much guessing about the timing of the next general election—which Prime Minister Diefenbaker has said is possible for this year but not probable—is associated with the budget.

Speculation has been that there is little likelihood of personal income tax relief.

"ALMOST CERTAIN"
On the other hand, tax incentives for industry to encourage industrial expansion, boost production and give a shot in the arm to export sales have been reported as "almost certain."

Described as an average swimmer, the youth suddenly disappeared below the surface

OTTAWA (UPI)—Bank of Canada governor James E. Coyne will be fired from his $50,000 a year job shortly on grounds he can't get along with the federal government.

In the final and crushing blow of the Coyne crisis, Finance Minister Donald Fleming told Parliament yesterday it would be asked to pass the necessary legislation to remove the 51-year-old central bank chief from his post.

The announcement was the government's answer to Coyne's open defiance Tuesday of a demand that he resign immediately.

MAIN REASON
Fleming said flatly that Coyne "does not possess the confidence of the government."

"The main reason was that the government was convinced that Mr. Coyne's continuation in office as governor of the Bank of Canada would stand in the way of implementation of comprehensive, sound and responsible program designed to raise the levels of employment and production in Canada," Fleming said.

IMPLICATIONS CLEAR
The finance minister did not spell out the firing in precise terms, but the implications were clear in a statement that said:

"In the light of the foregoing, I can now inform the House that the government will shortly invite Parliament to take the appropriate legislative action to meet the needs of the situation."

HARSH INDICTMENT

Fleming's statement was as harsh an indictment of a public servant as had been heard in some time.

It said Coyne's tenure as governor had been one of "steady and deplorable deterioration" in the bank's public relations. And it accused the governor of "ill-considered" actions, of making policy statements "with strong political overtones" outside his field, and of a "rigid and doctrinaire expression of views often and openly incompatible with government policy."

NEED GREAT

Fleming said the need for co-operation between the bank and the government "has never been greater."

"It has become impossible to expect this kind of co-operation as long as the present governor remains in office," he said.

Going Back To UBC Says Audain

JACKSON, Minn. (AP)—Michael Audain, 23-year-old Victorian who joined U.S. Freedom Riders in their fight of Mississippi segregation laws, said Wednesday he hopes to return to UBC on his release from jail in the fall.

"College is more important to me than another sentence," he said. He has served eight days of a minimum two-month jail term.

Census Still Going Taker's Still Stops

OTTAWA (CP)—Into a deadpan Commons Wednesday was tossed the story of the census commissioner's still.

Edmund Morris, parliamentary secretary to Trade Minister Ives, disclosed that the government June 5 suspended Julien Guy Sasseville as census commissioner for Quebec's St. James County.

REASON WHY

The reason: he was convicted of running an illegal distillery.

J. P. Deschatelets (L—Montreal) asked if Mr. Sasseville had been interviewed as to "fact and judgment" when he was appointed and whether it was known at the time the RCMP had wanted him since last Oct. 24.

NOT AVAILABLE

Mr. Morris said the interview showed Mr. Sasseville to be of above-average intelligence "as was borne out by the activity in which he was engaged," Mr. Sasseville was suspended, he said, for "non-availability to the public."

Yet the government had taken months to decide that this action didn't meet Mr. Fleming's high moral standards.

He said the Opposition will refuse to join the government in making Mr. Coyne a "scapegoat" in voting for his ouster unless the government can prove before a Parliamentary committee that Mr. Coyne thwarted its financial policies.

SEE OR TALK

He accused Mr. Fleming of refusing to "see or talk" to Mr. Coyne after demanding his resignation May 30.

"This whole sorry business is depressing evidence of the unprecedented breakdown of relations between the governor of the bank and the minister of finance," he said.

Mr. Erhard Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) said he regretted the Coyne controversy "has to be part of an election campaign."

NEAR CHARGED

The CCF spokesman said Mr. Coyne's name was being smeared "by a government so ruthlessly desperate to win an election" that it felt it had to use such tactics.

The government had made a bad miscalculation when it asked Mr. Coyne to resign.

"It did not expect the government to have the guts that history has shown him to have."

He said the CCF doesn't defend the $25,000 pension. But he suggested the government had told Mr. Coyne "to be a nice little boy and sneak away quietly" and that the government wouldn't reverse the pension increase.

New B.C. Pipeline To Start at Once; Jobs for 5,600

VANCOUVER (CP)—

President Frank M. McMahon of Westcoast Transmission said Wednesday work will start immediately on the company's 500-mile oil pipeline connecting Peace River oil fields of northeastern British Columbia with the Trans-Mountain line to Vancouver.

The 20-inch line will run from Taylor, 60 miles north of Dawson Creek, to Kamloops where it will link up with the Trans-Mountain line carrying Alberta oil to Vancouver.

He said construction of the line will employ 600 men and is expected to result in development programs employing 5,000 more.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

Contracts have now been awarded for the job, expected to cost $35,000,000. Mr. McMahon's statement said. The line would have an initial capacity of 75,000 barrels a day.

It would be built along the right-of-way of Westcoast's natural gas pipeline and would be operated by Westcoast but would be owned by Western Pacific Products and Crude Oil Pipelines Ltd., a B.C. company in which Westcoast has a large financial interest.

CONFINED TO B.C.

Contracts have now been awarded in B.C. wherever possible and only one has had to be placed outside Canada, a $400,000 order for pumping engines not available in this country, the statement said.

A tank farm with capacity of 250,000 barrels will be built at Kamloops together with an office and control room.

Dutton-Williams Ltd. and Canadian Bechtel Ltd. have been awarded the major construction contracts.

Approximately 50 oil-drilling rigs will be activated in the Peace River district, each one requiring about 100 men to operate and service, Mr. McMahon predicted.
